DAYS AFTER REMOVAL, ALTMAN IS BACK AS OPENAI CEO ALONG WITH NEW BOARD

The new board members are former Salesforce co-CEO Bret Taylor, ex-US Treasury Secretary Larry Summers and Quora CEO Adam D'Angelo

NADELLA WELCOMES THE NEW DEVELOPMENT

OpenAI's previous board of directors, which included D'Angelo, had refused to give specific reasons for why it fired Sam Altman last Friday. Microsoft, which has invested billions in OpenAI, quickly moved to hire Altman. After he decided to return to OpenAI, Microsoft CEO Satya Nadella welcomed it, saying: "We are encouraged by the changes to the OpenAI board"

WILL BOLSTER TIES WITH MICROSOFT: ALTMAN

- Announcing his decision through social media platform X, Altman said he would build on OpenAi's strong partnership with Microsoft
- As for OpenAI's short-lived interim CEO Emmett Shear, the second interim CEO in the days since Altman's ouster, he posted on X that he was "deeply pleased by this result, after 72 very intense hours of work"

US foiled 'Indian' plot to kill Pannun: Report

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

HOURS after a media report claimed the US foiled an alleged Indian attempt to bump off Khalistani terrorist and founder of the banned Sikhs For Justice Gurpatwant Singh Pannun on its soil, the foreign office here said India takes US inputs seriously.

"India takes such inputs seriously since it impinges on our own national security interests as well. During the course of recent discussions on the India-US security cooperation, the US side shared some inputs pertaining to the nexus between organised criminals, gun runners, terrorists and others. The inputs are a cause of concern for both countries and they decided to take necessary and follow up action," said Arindam Bagchi, MEA spokesperson.

Pannun had warned Sikhs to not take any Air India flight to India on November 19, the birth anniversary day of former prime minister Indira Gandhi.

The story broken by London's Financial Times claimed the US had protested India's alleged involvement in the plot to kill Pannun. The protest came after Prime Minister Narendra Modi's state visit to Washington in June, it added.

On June 18 this year, Khalistani separatist Hardeep Singh Nijjar was gunned down by unknown assailants in Canada. After Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau blamed India for the murder, bilateral relations nosedived with both sides expelling a diplomat each and India suspending visa services. India on Wednesday resumed e-visas to Canadians.

NIA raids on 14 locations in Punjab, Haryana dists

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) on Wednesday carried out searches at 14 locations in Punjab and Haryana as part of its continuing investigations into the attacks on the Consulate General of India at San Francisco in the US in March this year by Khalistani elements.

Sources said the NIA teams raided different places in Ludhiana, Jalandhar, Moga, Patiala, Gurdaspur and SAS Nagar districts in Punjab. In Haryana, they searched a few premises in Kurukshetra and Yamunanagar districts. The teams seized digital data on the accused persons, along with other incriminating documents.

On September 21, the NIA had released photos of 10 suspects in the attack on the San Francisco mission and crowd sourced information about them. The probe agency has already identified certain individuals who were part of the plot. They include both Indian and foreign nationals.

On the intervening night of March 18 and 19 this year, some pro-Khalistan entities trespassed into the San Francisco mission and tried to burn it down. On the same day, slogan-shouting Khalistani supporters broke through the mission's makeshift security barriers, put up two so-called Khalistani flags in the Consulate premises and damaged the building besides assaulting officials.

Rescue of 41 tunnel workers hours away

The trapped men to be strapped on to small-wheeled stretchers and pulled out through 800-mm pipes using rope

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

RESCUE of the 41 trapped labourers from the collapsed under-construction Silkyara tunnel appeared hours away on Wednesday evening with 48 metres of escape passage being created, out of the 57 metres stretch of debris to reach the workers, who have been stuck inside for the past 11 days.

According to sources, the workers will be pulled out of the tunnel on small-wheeled stretchers using a rope, through the 800-mm pipes that have been insereted horizontally.

Ambulances are on standby and a team of doctors is at the site. Uttarakhand Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami is also expected to reach the site to welcome the workers.

The labourers will be taken directly to the Chinyalisaur government hospital, 32 km away from the tunnel, where special arrangements have been made for their inspection and treatment as required.

"The labourers will likely be kept in isolation for a day or two after emerging from the tunnel," said Dr Rohit Gondwal, a psychiatrist who has been camping in Silkyara and has interacted with some of the workers through camera.

Dr Gondwal spoke to two experienced labourers referred to as 'Negi ji' and 'Gabbar', who have faced similar accidents in the past. "Individuals like Gabbar and Negi have played a key role in keeping the morale of the labourers high in the tunnel," Dr Gondwal said.

Giving an update on the progress of the multi-agency rescue efforts, in-charge of the operation Colonel Deepak Patil told this newspaper that so far, nine pipes have been drilled horizontally up to 48 metres. Only two more pipes are to be inserted but the process takes time. "Each pipe must be strongly welded together and allowed to cool before continuing," he explained.

Around 200 personnel from the National Disaster Response Force, State Disaster Response Force, paramilitary forces, Air Force, state police, and revenue department have been deployed at the site to help with the rescue mission.

Bengaluru firm to help in rescue operations

BENGALURU: A Bengaluru-based company, Squadrone Infra and Mining Pvt Ltd, which specialises in aerial intelligence for mineral exploration, mining, tunnelling and infrastructure solutions, has joined the rescue efforts to pull out 41 labourers who have been trapped at a tunnel at Silkyara in Uttarakashi since November 12. 2 Army officers among 4 killed in encounter

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

FOUR Army personnel, including two captains, were killed during a gunfight with a group of militants in Kalakote forest area in the border district of Rajouri in Jammu and Kashmir on Wednesday. Two others were injured, officials said. The encounter took place during a joint operation of the Army and police in Bajimaal area of Dharmsal in Kalalkote-Gulabgarh forest area of Rajouri in the morning. The joint team was deployed after receiving specific intelligence inputs about the presence of a group of militants there.

A security official said the troops came under heavy fire. "The militants fired from the automatic weapons. The fire was returned, triggering an encounter," he said. Additional troops have been rushed to the forest area to tighten the siege and prevent the militants from escaping. Helicopters, quadcopters with night vision, drones, and sniffer dogs have been deployed to track down the militants. "The Special Forces, who have been air dropped in the forest area, are also assisting troops in the ongoing operation against militants," the security official said. Sources said 3-4 heavily armed militants are believed to be trapped in the gunfight. "The gunfight was going on when reports last poured in," they said.

An Army spokesperson said contact was established with the terrorists on Wednesday and intense fight ensued. "The terrorists have been injured and surrounded. Operations are in progress amidst acts of valour and sacrifice by our bravehearts in trying to prevent collateral damage to women and children in the highest traditions of the Army," he said.

Jayaprakash Hegde, chairman, Backward Classes Commission

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

THE original hard copy of the Socio-Economic and Education Survey, popularly known as the caste census report, has gone missing, confirmed Backward Classes Commission chairman Jayaprakash Hegde.

Though TNIE had reported on October 6 that the report had disappeared mysteriously, Hegde had denied it. This is the first official confirmation that the Kantharaj Commission report with the signature of the then commission member-secretary has been missing from the commission office.

The report was earlier expected to be presented to the government on November 26, which was also the last day of Hegde at office as the commission chairman. But now, the government has extended his tenure by a month, which could also mean that the report submission too could be delayed.

BBMP collating BWSSB, Bescom details, sends msg

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TO integrate property records with power and water supply connections for hassle-free services in future and to boost revenues through tax collection, the BBMP is sending out SMS alerts to property owners to keep their documents ready.

A BBMP official said revenue officers will collect details like khata number, property tax receipt, revenue record number of Bangalore Electricity Supply Company (Bescom) and Bangalore Water Supply and Sewage Board (BWSSB) and also click photos of the property.

"Properties will be mapped and digitised. The integration of RR numbers and property documents will help avoid confusion for other civic agencies when a property is sold. Auto triggers will be sent to Bescom and BWSSB officials when the property is sold and the owner's name changes," he said.

This initiative to digitise details of properties completely is being taken to bring nearly 30-40 lakh properties under the BBMP tax net, boosting revenues. "This can address issues like impersonation, fake documents and others," he added.

Modi welcomes deal to release Israeli hostages

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi, while welcoming a deal to release 50 Israeli hostages, during his address at the virtual G20 summit on Wednesday, asserted that killings of innocents, especially children and women, is not acceptable.

He made seven observations on the Israel-Hamas conflict, which included zero tolerance on terrorism, expediting humanitarian aid, need for regional stability and pursuing dialogue and diplomacy to resolve the conflict. "When I proposed this virtual summit, there was no anticipation of what the global situation would be. New challenges have arisen. The situation of insecurity and instability in West Asia is a matter of concern for all... The death of civilians is condemnable," he said.

The summit was attended by 22 heads of government, though some leaders were not present. Russian President Vladimir Putin, Canadian PM Justin Trudeau, Japanese PM Fumio Kishida, Australian PM Anthony Albanese took part, while Chinese President Xi Jinping and US President Joe Biden skipped it.

In his address, Putin launched a broadside over the Gaza conflict. "Russia has never refused peace negotiations in Ukraine. I understand that this is war and the loss of life cannot but shock. But isn't the extermination of civilian population in Gaza shocking? Isn't it shocking that doctors have to perform operations on children without anesthesia? Isn't it shocking that the UNSC said that Gaza has turned into a huge children's cemetery?" he said.

Hearing-impaired man buys Metro card, seeks alms inside train, held

BMRCL officials take him to hospital, audiologist confirms his disability

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A 20-year-old speech and hearing-impaired man on Wednesday morning purchased a new Metro travel card, topped it up with Rs 150 and hopped on board a Metro train at the Yeshwanthpur station. Armed with a laminated sheet stating 'I am Deaf and Dumb' in both Kannada and English, Mallikarjun visited coach by coach seeking alms from commuters. He was caught at Yeshwantpur station after he repeated the same during his return trip an hour later.

Mallikarjun, after he was caught by Metro security, seen with the cash that he received by begging on the train

Mallikarjun from Koppal has been booked and fined Rs 500 by the security staff of Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Ltd (BMRCL), said a Metro source. It appears that the onward and return Metro rides have given Mallikarjun a good collection as he was found with Rs 960 in his pockets when taken into custody.

"This is the first such instance of a man caught begging inside our train," he added. Mallikarjun has been booked under the Metro Act (Section 59) for nuisance and causing discomfort to passengers inside the train.

The source said, "Mallikarjun bought a Metro card today at Yeshwanthpur station today at 8.39 am, for which he paid Rs 200. Of that, Rs 50 was charged for the card and Rs 150 was the travel amount in a card. He exited at Mahakavi Kuvempu Road Metro station at 9.27 am. He returned at 10.24 am and boarded the train from Platform 1 towards Nagasandra. Metro staff were already searching for him. He was caught at the Yeshwanthpur station by a security staffer on the platform after he alighted."

A passenger who noticed Mallikarjun seeking alms in the train during his onward journey alerted a Metro staffer. "The security surveillance room passed on the message through walkie-talkie to all Metro stations and it was shared with all staffers on platforms," the source added.

Mallikarjun was later taken to an ENT specialist at KC General Hospital at Malleswaram by a staffer to check if his disability claim was genuine. "The report issued by the audiologist confirmed profound hearing loss in the left ear and minimal hearing loss in the right ear," he said. The bill of Rs 100 for the medical checkup was paid by BMRCL.

Officials informed that Mallikarjun is not a habitual beggar, and this is the first time that he has indulged in it.

Man gropes college student on overcrowded Metro train

ENS @ Bengaluru

A young woman was subjected to sexual harassment inside a Metro train on her way to college recently in public view, and bystanders reportedly ignored her pleas for help, revealed her friend. Metro officials, however, said they were unaware of such an incident, and added that no complaint has been registered with them.

The friend took to website Reddit and shared the incident through the user name 'protein-carbs'. The incident took place after the train crossed Kempegowda Interchange Metro station around 9 am on November 20, she said. The train was extremely crowded, she explained. "After a while, my friend began to feel very uncomfortable. She soon realised that a man in a red shirt, standing right behind her, was touching and grabbing her from the back. She could literally feel his hands," the post said. The friend did not initially understand what was happening. "The moment she turned around, the man literally sprinted away. She started screaming and crying for help, but nobody seemed to care," the post added.

BMRCL officials said they were in the dark about the incident and came to know of it through social media. An official said, "If a complaint is lodged with us specifying the direction of the train and the exact time, we can track the perpetrator through CCTV. We have nearly 1,000 cameras inside our trains. It is not possible to scan through every recording. BMRCL will definitely take action and we request the victim to approach us."

Suburban Rail Project gets another part-time MD, experts raise questions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE state government on Wednesday gave Dr Manjula N, Secretary, Kannada and Culture Department, additional charge as the Managing Director of the Rail Infrastructure Development Enterprises Karnataka (K-RIDE) relieving Gaurav Gupta of the concurrent charge.

K-RIDE is responsible for the implementation of the Rs 15,647-crore Bengaluru Suburban Rail Project and two crucial doubling projects of Indian Railways.

The non-posting of a full-time MD and the charge given to a non-technical person has upset experts and the public alike, who charge the government of not giving the project the importance it demands.

Infrastructure Minister MB Patil had assured newspersons on August 22 that K-RIDE would soon get a full-time MD.

A professional doctor, Dr Manjula has served as Director of Tourism, Director of Municipal Administration, District Collector Chikkaballapur and CEO at Zilla Panchayat Mysuru in the past.

A reputed transportation expert said, "The project has already been delayed by 30 years.

And now, again it is a part-time posting. Moreover, such a crucial project to decongest the city should have been given to someone who has proven their mettle in implementing major infrastructure projects within deadlines."

Another expert, Sanjeev Dyamannavar, said, "We saw Amit Garg being replaced with Gaurav Gupta and now he is being replaced with Dr Manjula. An MD overseeing such a critical infrastructure project for the city must be given three years at least. Also, it needs to be entrusted with someone with a strong technical background and experience in the Indian Railways. Even many Metro projects in other states, post someone with a Railway background to head their projects."

A few took to X to vent their disgruntlement.

FOR the first time, Kambala will be held in the state capital on November 25 and 26, well beyond its traditional turf of Coastal Karnataka, said Bengaluru Kambala Samiti president and Puttur MLA Ashok Kumar Rai.

Addressing a press conference on Wednesday, he said the buffaloes for the mega race will be brought to the venue (Palace Grounds) on lorries, which will depart from Uppinangadi in Dakshina Kannada district at 9 am on November 23. He said that over 150 pairs of the animals will be halted at Hassan, where MLA HD Revanna and others have stated that they would provide fodder and water to them, and lunch for 2,000 participants.

"Later, they buffaloes will be brought in a grand procession, as they make their way from Hassan to Nelamangala, onward to Palace Grounds on Friday. A team of veterinarians will also be present," Rai said.

Bengaluru is home to 18 lakh people from Coastal Karnataka, and nearly eight lakh of them are expected at the two-day event. Over 150 stalls for food, artifacts and other items will be put up. Prakash Shetty, honorary president of the committee, said 65 organisations in Bengaluru are supporting the grand event.

Speed up road-widening works, says Lahar Singh

Bengaluru: BJP MP Lahar Singh urged the state government to expedite road-widening projects in Bengaluru, particularly from Mekhri Circle to the city and towards Bengaluru Cantt Station. In a letter to the DyCM DK Shivakumar, the MP stated that the widening of the road beyond Mekhri Circle, from the Hebbal side, currently narrows down to a 4-lane width towards the city after the 6-lane Mekhri Circle underpass. This bottleneck has been a source of persistent traffic jams, with vehicles queuing up over long distances, he stated.

80% OF INDIA'S DISTRICTS HIT BY CLIMATE CHANGE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

"MORE than 80 per cent of the districts in the country are impacted by climate change," said Vinay Kumar Dhadwal, Indira Gandhi Chair Professor of Environmental Science School of Natural Sciences and Engineering, National Institute of Advances Studies and former director, the Indian Institue of Space Science and Technology, ISRO.

Speaking after inaugurating the three-day workshop on 'Climate Resilience and Sustainable Development' organised by Karnataka Science and Technology Academy here on Wednesday, Dhadwal said, "Carbon dioxide is getting released into the atmosphere in large quantities. There is indiscriminate use of fossil fuels. Change in land use, forest destruction, nitrogen pollution and groundwater exploitation are alarming." He called for strict implementation of environment protection measures.

Suggesting measures to curb pollution, he said, "To reduce pollution, people should shift to public transport and this should happen on a large scale. Freight should be transported majorly using rail and water transport."

23RD November: Here's some amazing research from a group of scientists in France. They fed the birthrates of virtually the entire French population into a computer and found that children tend be born within four months of their parents' birth dates. It looks like the period of the year in which we are born binds us together with people born around the same dates!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Professional Ariens have high hopes, but the odds against them being satisfied are stronger than usual. The best way to get by is to concentrate on voluntary activities. There is no place for self-interest, for if you focus on what is best for you now, you won't be around to take up a new responsibility, later.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The general drift of stars from the practical to the romantic, indicates that it will be your legendary love of beauty and the pleasures of the flesh which come to the fore. This is a time for self-indulgence, for a little bit of what you fancy. In all relationships there is one priority: keep talking.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's one thing to dream of great riches, but quite another actually to make your first million. Yet, if you are looking for ways to supplement your income, the answer may lie in the arts - or in an area connected to water. If there's an emotional glitch it could relate to events which took place four weeks ago.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You're setting off on an entirely new cycle of romantic experience - whatever your age, sex or inclination. It is time to be in love, and your stars are leaving you little space for anything else. Remember, though, when you're in control, you owe it to loved ones to look after their interests.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Progress at work depends very much on how flexible you are in the face of vague instructions and uncertain commitments. This is not the time to embark on new undertakings or insist on punctuality and efficiency, especially not if you are wary of emotional entanglements.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Compromise is a virtue, as you know only too well. You might have to shift your ground on a major matter. Aside from that, this is a brilliant moment for taking on major new responsibilities - and receiving rewards. Maybe a family member will be ready with the help you need. That's the least you deserve!

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Please don't complain about the many complications which seem to be flooding your life at the moment. If only you could see what is really happening, you'd realise that you're being showered with opportunities. Some may come from an unexpected direction, perhaps from a long way away.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's a fine moment for declarations of romantic love. Many Scorpios will be writing poems to their loved ones. If you missed out on a recent invitation, now is the time to catch up. Don't worry about being sentimental - clichés are often the best way to persuade other people your feelings are genuine.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Swing into action, lay everything on the line and surprise everyone with your amazing skill and vitality. Family responsibilities should take first place, but, then, I'm sure partners will remind you of that. Try to find some time for a friend in need.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
As a Capricorn, you're not known for your romantic proclivities, but that's because you're shy, not because you lack feelings. In fact, at times like these, your emotions are likely to be highly visible. You'll even be ready to take a risk - when you sense that the moment is right.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It is unlikely that even you could have anticipated what is now taking place in your private life. However, you may be too busy to worry about certain of the irrelevant frills which obsess other people. At work, you're into a new phase in which it's who you know that counts, so cultivate all personal contacts.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
There are certain phases in life when one either changes direction or misses a perfect opportunity. The additional factor at present is that all improvements may require a financial outlay. You've been handling your funds skill-fully and you should soon begin to see the rewards.

7, including 5 of family, hurt in LPG blast

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A family of five and two others staying in neighbouring houses have sustained burns in a suspected gas cylinder explosion. The incident occurred early on Wednesday morning at Weavers Colony in Maruthi Layout under Konanakunte police limits.

The injured have been admitted in the burns ward of the Victoria Hospital. The gas cylinder exploded around 5.30 am on Wednesday when one of the family members switched on the light. The impact blew off the asbestos sheet roof of the house and damaged the windows. Furniture, electronic items and clothes were gutted.

The injured have been identified as Jamal, 32, Nazia, 22, Irfan, 21, Gulab, 18, and Shahazad, 9. The family hails from Uttar Pradesh. The condition of Jamal and Nazia is said to be critical. One of the neighbours, Eshwaramma, also sustained severe injuries. The family was staying in a rented house owned by Manikanta. A car that was parked on the road has also been damaged.

The police suspect that the gas must have spread to the entire house after leaking from the stove.

ACTION PLAN TO TACKLE ANAEMIA LAUNCHED

Siddaramaiah uses occasion to question PM Modi on 'rising malnutrition' in Gujarat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN alignment with the Anaemia Mukt Bharat campaign launched in 2019, the Karnataka government has announced the Anaemia Mukt Poushtika Karnataka Action Plan on Wednesday with an allocation of Rs 185.74 crores to implement it. Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao in association with the state women and child department aspires to make Karnataka free from anaemia by 2025. He added that the state has taken serious steps to deal with anaemia. Chief Minister Siddaramaiah launched the campaign on November 22, 2023 while highlighting that India's malnutrition index is rising. The CM compared Gujarat with Karnataka and questioned Prime Minister Narendra Modi about the rising malnutrition there despite being called a model state.

The state aims to make healthcare facilities available at people's doorsteps. The government plans to screen 52 lakh children of age 6-59 months, 58 lakh children between 5-9 years, 127 lakh adolescents of age 10-19 years, 12 lakh pregnant women, 11 lakh lactating mothers and 133 lakh women in the reproductive age group (20-49 years excluding pregnant women and lactating mothers).

The anaemia screening programme will start within December 2023 and will be conducted in a phased manner. It will begin with a mass screening for anaemia and malnutrition, followed by strengthening the tracking and monitoring system. The state will also take measures to ensure proper diet supplements, de-worming and counselling services.

It was emphasised that anaemia occurs when haemoglobin levels decrease in a person's blood, primarily due to lack of nutrition. It causes fatigue and affects a person's physical and mental development. Minister of Women and Child Development, Laxmi Hebbalkar, added that they will be taking appropriate measures to tackle anaemia cases in the state and educate women and children about consuming nutritious food.

HOPE FARM ELECTROCUTION

Lokayukta takes up suo motu case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TAKING up a suo motu case against the state government and Bengaluru Electricity Supply Company (Bescom) authorities based on media reports about the death of a woman and her 9-month-old baby due to electrocution on a pavement, Karnataka Lokayukta Justice B S Patil directed the Superintendent of Police of Lokayukta to conduct investigation and submit a report by December 8, 2023, the next date of hearing.

Soundarya (23) and her daughter Suviksha, who arrived in Bengaluru on November 19, after celebrating Deepavali in Tamil Nadu, were electrocuted when she stepped on a live electrical wire lying on the pavement near Hope Farm Junction on Whitefield Main Road, in Kadugodi police station limits. Directing the Registry to issue notice to the additional chief secretary of the Energy department and Bescom authorities, including its managing director, to submit their response, Justice Patil said: "The object of the Karnataka Lokayukta Act is to ensure good governance in the state administration and also to prevent maladministration.

Negligence on the part of the authorities who are entrusted with the responsibility of ensuring proper maintenance of the electrical line, in my considered view, falls within the meaning of 'maladministration' under Section 2(10) of the Act."

The Lokayukta further said Bescom is collecting electrical charges from the public, who expect corresponding facilities from the authorities to make their life comfortable and hassle-free. "We often see very old and dilapidated electrical wires connected to poles and which are not changed. The matter requires detailed investigation to fix responsibility on officials responsible for non-maintenance of electrical lines, and to find a permanent solution to such problems," the Lokayukta observed.

The Lokayukta also said it is needless to mention that it is the prime duty of electricity supply companies to keep all electrical lines in good condition to enable the public to walk freely without any fear.

'BESCOM DATA REFLECTS NEGLIGENCE'

"The accident abstract found on the website of Bescom itself shows that from 2015-16 to 2021-22, on an average 200 to 280 accidents have been reported every year. Thus, prima facie there has been negligence on the part of the officers/officials entrusted with the responsibility of maintenance of the electrical lines. In my considered view, non-maintenance of electrical lines in a reasonable condition would be a serious dereliction of duty. Such derelictions will prove fatal to the lives of people. It is well settled that the Right to Life means quality of life. Nobody's life can be safe without there being a proper electrical line...", the Lokayukta said.

HC: Suppressing facts to secure job is cheating

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OBSERVING that in cases where fraud and misrepresentation form the foundation for securing employment be brought under the umbrella of ingredients of cheating, the Karnataka High Court rejected a petition filed by an advocate questioning the criminal proceedings initiated against him. The court had also cancelling his candidature for the post of District Judge for providing false information while applying for the job.

"The petitioner has deliberately suppressed cases pending against him (while applying for the post of District Judge) and therefore, it amounts to seeking to secure employment on account of misrepresentation," said Justice M Nagaprasanna, while dismissing the petition filed by Palaksha SS, a practising advocate from Kodagu district, questioning the case registered by the high court.

The petitioner was one among three candidates in the select list dated August 14, 2020, who were recommended for appointment to the post of District Judges. After notifying the list, an anonymous complaint over suppressing the pendency of cases reached the high court, which resolved to terminate the candidature of the petitioner and register a criminal case against him under Section 420 of IPC. Later, a chargesheet was filed against him by the police.

The petitioner's counsel argued that this by no stretch of the imagination can be termed as an offence under Section 420 of the IPC for cheating, as the intention of the petitioner was never to cheat. But, whether it would meet the ingredients of Section 415 of the IPC must be noticed for the petitioner to be prosecuted in a criminal case, he argued.

For this, the court said the term 'property' as obtained in Section 415 of IPC, to mean property and nothing else... In the peculiar facts of the case, property would mean, the service that the petitioner would have entered into, as it provides security of tenure which is valuable. Therefore, the valuable security is akin to property, the judge said.

The court also noted that the petitioner is a practising advocate for close to 13 years prior to submitting his application for the post of District Judge. He cannot be compared to an applicant who has applied for a Group-D post who can take shelter that by inadvertence he has not answered the query (in the application) by properly understanding it. The petitioner did not disclose nine cases in which he was either the complainant or the accused, the court added.

994 vehicles booked for carrying excess schoolkids

ENS @ Bengaluru

BENGALURU Traffic Police booked 994 cases against vehicles carrying schoolchildren in excess of the permitted seating capacity, in a special drive on Tuesday, between 2.30pm and 4.30pm. Traffic police checked 2,050 vehicles carrying schoolchildren, and booked the drivers of 332 vans, 319 buses, 133 minivans, 122 autorickshaws and 89 other vehicles. Some of the autorickshaws were carrying more than 10 children.

The drivers have been warned of strict action, including cancellation of driving licences, if they are found repeating the offence. Guidelines have already been issued to schools to ensure the safety of students travelling in school vehicles. The drive will continue in the coming days to ensure the safety of schoolchildren.

Re-exam on Dec 23 to recruit 545 PSIs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA) has stated that the re-examination for the post of 545 police sub-inspectors (PSIs) will be conducted in various centres in Bengaluru on December 23. The police department had conducted exams to recruit 545 PSIs on October 3, 2021. As malpractice and irregularities were found in the examination process, the state government had issued orders annulling the process. The High Court, early this month, had dismissed a batch of petitions filed by several candidates who were selected in the exams questioning the government order and had upheld the latter to hold a re-exam. The KEA was entrusted to conduct the same.

Accordingly, the KEA, announced the date of re-examination, stating that those who were eligible to appear for the exam held in October 2021 will be eligible to write the re-exam on December 23. However, those candidates who were found to have indulged in malpractice in the previous exam and were debarred, won't be eligible. Over 50,000 aspirants are expected to appear for the re-exam.

Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara said 1,547 PSIs will be recruited in the next six months and 3,000 police constables will be recruited soon. "We will be recruiting 545 PSIs by December. Later, applications will be invited to fill up 402 and 600 posts respectively," he added. He said there is a requirement of 15,000 police constables, and soon the process to recruit 3,000 constables will be initiated. Dr Parameshwara added that the government is also planning to introduce a rule that police officers should be transferred after two years.

Cabbie stole tender coconuts to clear debts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

GIRINAGAR police arrested a cab driver for stealing tender coconuts and selling them to clear his debts. The accused was initially a coconut vendor. He was addicted to online betting, and had incurred losses. He then changed his profession to cab driving, but since his earnings were low, he started stealing coconuts from roadside vendors and selling them.

The Mohan Shivalinga, 30, is a resident of Madiwala and native of Tamil Nadu. Mohan would identify places where coconuts were being sold. The vendors would cover the coconuts with plastic and leave for the night. The accused would come by late at night in his cab and load it up with coconuts.

Rajanna, who sold coconuts near a park in Girinagar, filed a complaint after 1,150 coconuts were stolen from his pile. Police recovered 90 coconuts, a Bullet and a car worth around Rs 8.75 lakh from the accused.

Health - Problem and Solution

Q. What is the concept of 'Rasayan' described in Ayurved?

Ans - Rasayan is one of the eight branches of Ayurved. It is a treatment modality which comprises of medicines and also suggests dietary and lifestyle specifications which when practiced consistently, in long run helps to live a healthy long life as it boosts physical and mental well-being. Medicines used in Rasayan Therapy provide the required nourishment to all seven body tissues which in turn improves Vyadhikshamatva (immunity).

Q. Why is Swamala compound beneficial as a Rasayan?

Ans - Swamala compound is a Chyavanprash enriched with Suvarna, Rajata, Abhraka Bhasma, Pravala Pishti etc. It is made with finest, hand sorted Amlas, pure cow Ghee, honey and other herbal ingredients. Swamala compound promotes proper nourishment of Saptadhatu in the body and improves physical strength and immunity. It is also Medhya, that is, it helps improve memory and intellect. According to clinical studies, Swamala compound has shown positive results by increasing the CD4 and neutrophil count in healthy individuals, therefore suggesting to be beneficial for preventive and promotive health.

Q. I have a 13-year-old son, he often gets cough and cold during seasonal change. Pls suggest a simple remedy for tackling this.

Ans - During the transition period to Hemant Rhutu, that is winter, one must take preventive measures so as to strengthen the body and boost immunity to maintain health during complete winter season. Start giving him Swamala compound (a Chyavanprash fortified with Suvarna, Rajata and Abhraka Bhasma) 1 teaspoon (5 mg) every morning and evening. This will help in improving his immunity and also provide nourishment to the body.

Q. My mother is 60 years old, during winter months she often feels breathless and gets recurrent dry cough. I am looking for an Ayurvedic remedy that will prevent this seasonal concern and support her health & immunity.

Ans - Considering that she is not diabetic, we would suggest the time tested total health promoter Swamala compound which is recommended for strengthening respiratory system and boosting immunity. It is a Chyavanprash enriched with Suvarna Bhasma, Rajata Bhasma, Loha Bhasma etc which are Rasayan ingredients which impart strength and vitality to the body. We suggest taking 1 tablespoon (10 mg) of Swamala compound, every morning and evening on empty stomach.

It is appropriate to take medicines with the advice of Ayurvedic physician.

CM QUESTIONS VOKKALIGAS FOR OPPOSING CASTE CENSUS REPORT

Commission chief's tenure to be extended; DKS never spoke to me about report: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the dominant Vokkaliga community leaders, including Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, are urging the State Government to reject the caste census report, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday reasserted that his government will accept the report. The CM questioned the community leaders for opposing it even before it was submitted.

"They (Vokkaliga leaders) have given me a memorandum. But, I asked them why they are opposing it even before they see the report?" the chief minister told reporters.

Siddaramaiah said that the DyCM has never spoken to him about the caste census report, and only the community leaders had met him and submitted a memorandum.

Reaffirming his stand on accepting the report, the chief minister said they have spent Rs 162 crore on the survey, and they have to accept the report and also look at it to know if the apprehensions expressed against it are true. "I have not seen it and they (Vokkaliga community leaders) also do not know what is there in the report," he added.

Siddaramaiah said State Backward Classes Commission Chairman Jayaprakash Hegde's tenure will be extended by a month or two, till he submits the report. "Jayaprakash Hegde informed us that he will give the report in December. Since his tenure is ending this month, I told me that we can extend his tenure till he submits the report. I have told him to give the report by December or January," the CM said.

The chief minister said that he is not aware of Hegde's remarks that the original draft of the Kantharaju commission report is missing.

'Will present report as soon as possible'

WHEN contacted, Hegde said, "The hard copy of the report with the then member-secretary Anbu Kumar's signature is missing. The work sheet is also missing. But we have a copy of the data which has been stored. It is safe electronically with a PSU."

Asked if the report will be submitted on November 26, he said, "We will present it as soon as possible and we are working on it round the clock." But later in the day, Hegde wrote to the government, seeking a month's extension to submit the report and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah accepted his request.

> It is baffling that after spending crores of rupees of taxpayer's money on preparing this report, we do not have the original copy. It makes us suspect the authenticity of this report
> Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, Vijayapura City BJP MLA

But legal experts pointed out that such an extension cannot be granted and only a fresh appointment can be made under the rules governing the commission.

Hegde can be reappointed as the commission chairman for another full term, they added.

Sources said, "The Kantharaj commission had been appointed by the Congress government, and was removed soon after BJP came to power. Then Hegde was appointed chairman. When Congress took charge, it was expected to remove him, but it didn't. The CM has now agreed to the extension. What is the unseen understanding here."

On the likely fallout of the missing original copy of the report, former commission chairman CS Dwarakanath said, "The authenticity is important. The member-secretary is the link between the government and the commission. If he has not signed the report, then it is a problem. How do we know what is submitted is the authentic report?"

Senior BJP leader Basanagouda Patil Yatnal said, "It is baffling that after spending crores of rupees of taxpayer's money on preparing this report, we do not have the original copy. It makes us suspect the authenticity of this report. If the original copy is lost in the department, in which police station has the complaint been lodged? What disciplinary steps have been taken against the official who was responsible for this? The government should clarify."

Meanwhile, informed sources said Hegde had held an internal inquiry recently about the original report missing. He had checked the records to find out who all had access to the report and pulled up one of the staffers.

DyCM defends his stand

DyCM DK Shivakumar defended his move of signing a memorandum opposing the caste census report and urging the CM not to accept it. Shivakumar said he stands by the party's line on caste census but the demand of various communities for a scientific approach to the caste census must be considered. Speaking to reporters at the Chief Minister's residence, Shivakumar said, "Many communities are fighting for proportional reservation. Scheduled Castes, Panchamasalis, Veerashaivas and Vokkaligas are all fighting. These demands are cutting across party lines. Certain communities have, however, said that they have not been contacted before the census and hence are demanding for a scientific caste census." Asked if he has signed the memorandum submitted to the CM, Shivakumar said politicians from various communities have been rallying around this issue. "Similarly, I have to wear the community hat and participate in apolitical meetings organised by the community. Is it wrong?" he asked.

CM reviews guarantees, officials told to ensure benefits reach people

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Wednesday convened meetings to review the four guarantee schemes implemented by his government in the last six months. He instructed the officials of various departments to ensure that the benefits of the guarantees reach people of the state.

During his review meeting with officials of the transport department, the chief minister said 99.75 lakh trips have been made under the Shakti scheme since its launch and the number will cross the 1-crore mark in two days.

He also said that 828 normal and 145 electric buses are being added to the four state-owned road transport corporations.

Reviewing Anna Bhagya scheme, the CM said in October, money has been sent to 1.1 crore card holders and so far Rs 2,444 crore has been disbursed. Apart from this, 12.95 lakh card holders were added to the scheme by linking their bank account with Aadhaar number and 2.6 lakh accounts opened in post offices. Also, 7.67 lakh card holders had issues which were resolved. In many of these cases, the head of the family is not in the state and in such cases, the government is considering giving money to the second head of the family. "The same will be placed before the cabinet for approval. By December end, all the beneficiaries should get the benefit," the CM directed officials

Under Gruha Jyothi, 1.62 families have registered of which 1.5 crore are getting the benefits.

Under Gruha Lakshmi scheme, 1.17 crore beneficiaries have registered of which 1.1 crore are getting the money. The CM has directed officials to ensure all the beneficiaries get benefits by December. He also directed officials to conduct Gruha Lakshmi adalats in villages to sort issues, if any.

Yatnal seeks prohibition of halal certifying agencies

ENS @ Bengaluru

VIJAYAPURA City MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal has written to Union Minister for Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution Piyush Goyal seeking a ban on halal certifying agencies in the country. This comes days after the Uttar Pradesh government banned halal-certified products in that state.

Yatnal also urged Goyal to order an impartial probe and "audit the use of halal funds to safeguard the security and sovereignty of the nation".

In his letter, Yatnal alleged that several organisations, under the guise of religious entities, are actively promoting halal certifications across various sectors, including meat production, food products, cosmetics and other consumer goods.

"These certifications run counter to the principles enshrined in the Constitution and the ideals of secularism. Additionally, there is evidence to suggest that the substantial funds collected through these certifications are being diverted towards anti-national activities, terrorism support, legal aid for individuals involved in terrorist activities and promotion of literature endorsing terrorism and jihad," he alleged.

Recently, Uttar Pradesh Police registered an FIR against halal products and certificates.

He alleged that halal is nothing but protection money. "Unfortunately, hospitals and other agencies are now seeking halal certifications to attract a larger patient base. This has to be addressed and stress the need for hospitals to adhere strictly to regulations and guidelines of the Medical Council of India...," he said.

Vijayendra likens Siddu to Nero, says he's renovating house during drought

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

KARNATAKA BJP president BY Vijayendra on Wednesday likened Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to Roman emperor Nero who fiddled while Rome burned accusing him of "having fun when the entire state was reeling under drought".

"Even six months after assuming power, the Congress leaders are still in a fun mood. The CM is spending crores of rupees to renovate his house while ministers are buying new cars, unmindful of the drought situation," he said, calling it an insult to the state's farmers.

Further, he alleged that no district ministers have toured their respective districts to assess the severity of the drought. In the top Congress leaders meeting held in Bengaluru on Tuesday, Vijayendra said it was expected that the government will announce compensation for drought. "But unfortunately, they discussed Lok Sabha elections and appointments to boards and corporations which shows what their priorities are," Vijayendra, MLA for Shikaripura, said.

He said the manner in which the Congress government is functioning in the state indicates that it is anti-farmer, anti-poor and anti-Dalit, adding, "It is for the first time in the history that a government has lost its popularity within 5-6 months of coming to power," he said.

He came down heavily on the CM for blaming the Centre over drought relief and questioned whether the state had any responsibility. On reports of Hindutva leader Arunkumar Putthila planning to contest Lok Sabha election, he said he will take the opinions of senior party leaders and take a decision. On caste cenus, Vijayendra said the BJP is not against caste census but asked why Siddaramaiah failed to take appropriate measures on the issue during his previous tenure. He alleged that the issue is now being raised as Lok Sabha polls are nearing. It's not right to misuse it for electoral gains, he said.

Vijayendra also slammed Housing Minister Zameer Ahmed Khan's "bow before Muslim speaker" remark, saying that it is a crime that he is still allowed to roam outside. "We will see how he takes part in the winter session. The CM should immediately seek his resignation," he demanded.

If all goes well, appointments to boards, corporations by Nov 30

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Congress high command is likely to clear nominations to boards and corporations by this month-end as certain names have already been shortlisted after weighing the pros and cons and looking at caste and regional balance, keeping in mind the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

At a meeting held by AICC General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala in Bengaluru on Tuesday evening, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar struck deals for their respective candidates, besides considering the names suggested by AICC president Mallikarjuna Kharge.

Still, some differences have persisted and to iron them out, another round of meeting is slated to be held on November 28. If all goes well, the list will be released on November 30 after the high command approves it, sources said.

Shivakumar wants some party sympathisers, apart from legislators, to be appointed. Retired IAS officer Siddaiah's name is being pushed for the chairman's post of Karnataka Commission for SC/STs, but there is resistance from some legislators from these communities, the sources added.

The high command is worried that if the decision is taken suddenly, it may boomerang ahead of the Lok Sabha elections as leaders who would be left out could be upset, they said. Which was why Surjewala spoke to certain leaders whose names were finalised, including that of former minister Basavaraj Rayareddy, over phone and sought their opinion, the sources said.

On Wednesday, Siddaramaiah said, "Only a preliminary discussion was held and it has not been finalised as to who we will nominate to boards and the corporations."

Shivakumar said, "We both might have discussed the list, but the opinion of senior leaders and legislators has been taken. The CM and I are going to Telangana for election campaigning. A final list will be sent to the high command after another round of meeting with central leaders, who are visiting the state on November 28."

He rubbished reports that Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara was unhappy as he was ignored while taking the decision.

The discussion was held to accommodate many senior MLAs who have not been represented in the ministry, he added.

On BJP's comment that Congress is delaying the appointments, he said, "We have started the process within a few months of coming to power. When did BJP make these appointments? They could not even fill up four-five cabinet positions that were vacant till the end of the government. It is like pot calling kettle black."

The probables are Basavaraja Rayareddy, Narendraswamy, Vinay Kulkarni, Vijayananda Kashappanavar, Bangarapet Narayanaswamy, Ganesh Hukkeri, Maluru Nanjegowda, BK Sangamesh, BR Patil, MY Patil, BG Govindappa, Raghavendra Hitnal, Prasad Abbayya, AR Krishnamurthy,KM Shivalingegowda, Rupa Sashidhar, Rajegowda, Raghumurthy, Anil Chikkamadu and Magadi Balakrishna.

Efforts on to establish Kollur village's Kohinoor claim, turn it into tourist spot

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI
@ Kalaburagi

WHILE stories abound on the origin of the famed 'Kohinoor (Koh-i-Noor)', the diamond mined in the Deccan and which is now part of the British crown jewels, the claim that the Kohinoor was mined in Kollur, a tiny village in Shahapur taluk of Yadgir district, is gaining traction. The Karnataka government is likely to take steps to check this claim, and make the spot a tourist centre.

A Shahapur-based senior advocate, Bhaskar Rao Mudbool, who is also convener of the Kohinoor Smaraka Hitarakshana Samithi and president of Surpur Itihasa Samshodhana Kendra (Surpur History Research Centre) at Shahapur, is striving to convince the government on the necessity of setting up a memorial at the place where the world-famous diamond is said to have been mined.

Mudbool met Tourism Minister H K Patil during his visit to Shahapur on November 9, and briefed him about the fascinating story of Kohinoor, besides presenting some documents to support the claim that the diamond was mined in Kollur, on the banks of the river Krishna.

Rao presented documents, including the book 'A Forgotten Empire (Vijayanagar) -- A contribution to the history of India' written by Robert Sewell, which said the Kohinoor was mined at Kollur, probably in 1656 AD. Mir Jumla, a Persian immigrant, owned the mine and farmed the diamond, which he presented to Emperor Shah Jahan. The uncut diamond is said to have weighed 756 carats.

The claim that the Kohinoor was mined in Kollur, a tiny village in Shahapur taluk of Yadgir district, is gaining traction | EXPRESS

In the book 'Koh-i-Noor: The History of the World's Most Infamous Diamond' written by William Dalrymple and Anita Anand, it has been said that "it was presented uncut at 900 ratis or 787 carats" and came from the mines of Kollur in Karnataka.

Rao said the then tahsildar of Shahapur, in his letter K/Bhumi/98/2009-10 dated 27-01-2011, had said there is a diamond mine in the depths of the banks of the Krishna, and imposed prohibition on sand mining from Markal village to Sangam (D) village in private and government lands.

Looking at these facts, the Samiti members have erected a board, stating that the Koh-i-noor was found there.

"The government should acquire this place and develop a beautiful garden, and set up a pillar with a replica of Koh-i-Noor atop it," Rao demanded.

Kohinoor's travels

Nadir Shah, who ransacked Delhi in 1739, took away the diamond to Persia, and from there it reached Kabul, and finally came into the hands of Maharaja Ranjit Singh, the ruler of the Punjab, in 1813.

Ranjit Singh often wore the famous Kohinoor, meaning 'Mountain of Light', which was coveted by the British. After his death in 1839, it was placed in the jewel chamber till the infant Duleep Singh was acknowledged as Ranjit's successor. In 1849, it was handed over to Sir John Lawrence on the annexation of the Punjab, and reached the Queen of England. It now weighs 106 1/16 carats, says the author Robert Swell.

Observing that the death penalty can be imposed only in the rarest of rare cases, the Madras HC has commuted the capital punishment awarded to a man, for continuously sexually assaulting his minor daughter, to life sentence while acquitting the girl's mother of abetment charges and quashing her life sentence

8 CHILDREN INJURED

School auto, truck collide in Vizag

DCP says overspeeding of 3-wheeler cause of accident, overcrowding in violation of rule

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Visakhapatnam

EIGHT schoolchildren and an auto driver were injured in a collision with a truck near the Sangam Sarat Theatre junction in Visakhapatnam on Wednesday. The students, belonging to class 1 to 10, were on their way to their school in Ram Nagar when the incident occurred around 6:40 am.

The auto, travelling from Diamond Park Road towards Ambedkar statue junction, collided with a truck en route to RTC Complex from the railway station. One girl, who is grievously injured, is currently undergoing treatment, while three children, who sustained minor injuries, have received treatment and are safe.

Eight schoolchildren injured as truck and auto collide in Vizag city on Wednesday

A 14-year-old girl who suffered severe head injuries is reportedly in critical condition and is under-going treatment in the hospital, according to the police. CCTV footage from a nearby commercial establishment captured the collision, illustrating the high speeds at which both vehicles were travelling, culminating in the auto colliding with the truck. People nearby assisted in rescuing the trapped children, who were then taken to nearby hospitals. DCP K Srinivas Rao said the 3 hospitalised children have been discharged, 4 are in stable condition, while one girl remains in critical condition and that the auto driver's condition is also said to be stable. "Overspeeding of the auto driver, which is a clear instance of negligence, is the cause of the accident. We are also investigating to determine if there was any negligence on the part of the truck driver," he said. Speaking to TNIE, Visakhapatnam Deputy Transport Commissioner G.C. Raja Ratnam said, "The truck was plying on the main road, and the auto was coming from the side road. When a vehicle is approaching a main road from a side road, we should not over-speed. Furthermore, the auto was overcrowded with eight children, violating the rule that permits only six children in an auto."

Don't fall prey to Cong's trap, Yediyurappa tells TS voters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hyderabad

STATING that the Congress has failed to keep its promises in the neighbouring state, former Karnataka chief minister BS Yediyurappa appealed the people of Telangana to not fall prey to the "trap" of the grand old party. He urged people to vote for BJP for all-round development.

Addressing the media in the city on Wednesday, he said the Congress was following the Karnataka model to win elections in Telangana. "Do not get carried away by the empty promises. Initiatives such as unemployment allowance of Rs 3,000 for graduates and Rs 2,500 for diploma holders have not been launched so far," the senior BJP leader said.

He alleged that under the Gruha Lakshmi scheme, which promised Rs 2,000 for women from BPL families of Karnataka, costing a total of Rs 2,300 crore per month, only Rs 2,119 crore worth of benefits have been implemented.

Yediyurappa claimed that the Congress government failed to clear the arrears to the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) and that it has reduced the number of RTC buses in rural areas. Additionally, he said that under the Gruha Jyothi scheme, the Congress had promised 200 units of free power and later changed it to say that only those who consumed less than 200 units were eligible. The Anna Bhagya scheme is also not being implemented properly as the Congress has not been able to find a proper procurement channel, the former Karnataka chief minister claimed.

KCR calls Revanth liar, says Cong won't cross 20 seats

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

DESCRIBING TPCC chief A Revanth Reddy as a big thief and land grabber, Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao asserted that the former stands no chance of becoming chief minister as the Congress will get not more than 20 seats in the upcoming Assembly elections.

Launching a vitriolic attack on the PCC chief during an election meeting in Kodangal on Wednesday, KCR said that Revanth Reddy did nothing for Kodanal and even grabbed vast extent of lands in the constituency.

"Revanth is a land grabber... he resorted to encroaching on lands in this very district," Chandrasekhar Rao alleged. He also told the voters that Revanth was saying that three hour power supply would be sufficient for farmers and decided to scrap Dharani portal, if Congress was voted to power. "The Congress is saying that it will introduce Bhumatha portal. Is it Bhumatha or Bhumetha? (land grabbing?).

Congress will not come to power. Eelect Patnam Narender Reddy, who will get a promotion in the BRS government," Rao assured. He said that after BRS working president KT Rama Rao adopted Kodangal, the segment witnessed vast development. It got an RTC bus depot, a degree college and roads.

"Whom will you elect?A lier like Revanth Reddy or a worker like Narender?," Rao asked the crowd and appealed to them to get rid of "useless fellows". He predicted Revanth Reddy's defeat in Kamareddy Assembly segment.

Himanta plays Bhagyanagar card to woo voters

Hyderabad: Assam Chief Minister and BJP leader Himanta Biswa Sarma on Wednesday lashed out at the BRS and the Congress for appeasing minorities in poll-bound Telangana. Addressing a public meeting in Charminar, he said that no one asks about the needs of the Hindu community. He said that if the BJP comes to power in Telangana, Hyderabad will be renamed to Bhagyanagar.

Farmers' bride crisis: Padayatra to seek divine intervention

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru

WITH many farmers struggling to find a bride especially in the Mysuru and Mandya rural belt, members of Karnataka Rajya Vokkaligara Vikasa Vedike have planned a padayatra from Mysuru to Adichuchunangiri Mutt.

Addressing media persons here on Wednesday, president of the vedike Yamuna H R said: "As we are seeing reluctance of women and their families to embrace rural life and enter into wedlock with farmers, this padayatra is being organised which aims at raising awareness about the issue and dispel misconception about it."

She said the farmers bride crisis is not a new thing and most of the women who don't want to be yoked to rural life are having negligent attitude to get married to a farmer. "To sensitise this, we are holding this padayatra for three days from Mysuru on December 8, 9 and 10. During this padayatra, we will sensitise the public about the issue as well as pray for good rain in the state besides praying for punishment of those involved in the rape and murder of Soujanya in Dharmasthala," she said.

IN WAR ZONE GAZA, SISTERS WATCH OVER 60 DISABLED WARDS

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

AS thousands of bombs explode all over Gaza, three Missionaries of Charity sisters continue with their duties in their chapel campus, undaunted. It's been over 40 days since aerial bombing began on October 7, yet the sisters are holding on, determined not to abandon their 60 disabled wards, some young, others old.

The horrors of war are unspeakable -- continuous bombing, explosions touching 200 decibels, tremors on the ground, and sheer fear. The sisters hug the trembling children, most of whom are either physically or mentally challenged, holding them until they are calmer.

Recounting the horror, a person who did not wish to be named because of security reasons, said that food and water shortages is adding to their misery. "One day, the sisters had only one loaf of bread which they shared and on another day, it was just one orange," he said. That's because food is first given to the inmates and those seeking refuge.

"There are about 700 people sheltered inside the campus, which has a church," the person said, recalling the uncertainty of life itself at Gaza. "One woman who had sought shelter inside the campus for many days, wanted to slip out and go home to take a bath. As she stepped out of the campus, she suffered bullet wounds when a sniper hit her, and finally succumbed to her wounds some days ago."

"The campus is located near Al-Shifa Hospital, which was bombed by Israel some days ago, claiming that Hamas had stored weapons under the hospital and was operating from under it. The entire hospital and the tunnel system below has been taken over by the Israeli army. Communication from outside is cut off. Once in a while, their landline beeps to life. I got this news from the sisters living in Jerusalem," the source said. "The convent has three sisters and 60 inmates -- handicapped and mentally challenged children, and old bedridden people with bedsores. They have no food, water, medicine, electricity or LPG. Sometimes, generous and courageous people bring something for them to eat. Whatever they receive from outside is first served to the inmates. For the sisters, it's sometimes just one meal a day."

Rajyotsava award given to history-sheeter withdrawn

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

IN an embarrassment to the government, the Kannada and Culture Department on Wednesday withdrew the Kannada Rajyotsava award conferred upon Congress leader MK Ashoka after discovering that he is a history-sheeter. In a circular released on Wednesday, department Assistant Director MD Sudarshan, who was member secretary of the felicitation sub-committee for the award programme, stated that the award given to Ashoka has been withdrawn.

"During the felicitation sub-committee meeting held on October 30, 50 personalities were selected. Measures had been taken to get information from the police on the criminal background of those selected. Due to time constraint, all the selected persons were presented with awards at the function on November 1," he said.

Sudarshan said they received information that Ashoka, who had received an award in the social service category, had a criminal case registered at Lashkar Mohalla and Devaraja police stations.

Ready for any punishment if Cong wins less than 80 seats: TPCC chief

B KARTHEEK @ Hyderabad

HITTING out at Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao, TPCC chief A Revanth Reddy on Wednesday likened the BRS supremo to a "gobbling Bakasura" and "hibernating Kumbhakarna". Earlier in the day, KCR in Kodangal had claimed that the Congress would be limited to 20 seats in the Assembly. In response, Revanth, while participating in a public meeting in Narayankhed, exuded confidence that Congress would win 80 seats. "Congress will get not less than 80 seats. If the party gets less number of seats, I am ready for any punishment," he declared.

Addressing a public meeting in Gajwel, Revanth accused KCR of amassing Rs 1 lakh crore and 10,000 acres of land in and around Hyderabad. "KCR claims he won't lose anything and will rest at his farmhouse if he loses this election. However, we will drag him out to the market square and recover the Rs 1 lakh crore and 10,000 acres he looted," he declared.

Additionally, the TPCC chief said, "Upon learning that I am coming to Gajwel, KCR went to Kodangal today (Wednesday) and accused me of having a foul mouth. I challenge you, KCR. Let us undergo a drunk and drive test (breathalyzer test used to detect alcohol). Then it will be crystal clear as to who has a foul mouth. KCR, are you ready for this challenge?"

Stating that KCR has "flown away" from Gajwel to Kamareddy fearing a defeat, Revanth said, "While you (residents of Gajwel) wanted to defeat KCR, he flew to Kamareddy. But, there is a hunter in Kamareddy to defeat KCR."

He also highlighted the issues concerning the Mallannasagar and Ranganayaka Sagar land oustees, emphasising that he had actively participated in protests on their behalf. Revanth mentioned that despite constituents voting for the BRS supremo twice, the latter had submerged their lands in waters, promising adequate compensation only after the Congress made inroads into the region.

'India's metal sector growing in double digits'

Bhubaneswar: Amid challenges, India is the only country where the metal sector is growing in double digits, opined experts at an event here on Wednesday. As the economy is growing fast, the country as well as Odisha, which has a significant share in the growth history, is poised for a sea-change in steel, aluminium and copper with a focus on decarbonisation. Chairman of JSW Group and IIM vice president Sajjan Jindal said India's growth in the steel sector has been remarkable.

Steps will be taken to get UNESCO heritage tag for Gol Gumbaz: Patil

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayapura

KARNATAKA Tourism Minister HK Patil on Wednesday assured all stakeholders to take steps to meet the long-pending demand of getting UNESCO heritage tag for the monument.

Addressing the media after chairing a meeting with various officials and eliciting opinions from historians on Wednesday, Paitl said that an agency will be hired to give required details with the assistance of Archeological Survey of India (ASI) to prepare a detailed report.

He regretted that despite having every potential, the Adil Shahi monument is yet to enter the list of UNESCO world heritage sites.

On light and sound show at Gol Gumbaz to attract more visitors, Patil said preliminary works such as preparing a script for the project would be completed by the end of December. The project was announced in the budget.

He invited experts to share their views and present a report on how the sound and light system can be implemented effectively.

On another long-pending demand to resume restoration work of the ancient Karez (subterranean water system) of Adil Shahi era, Patil directed the officials to take steps to start the work. Patil said steps will be taken to revive tanga (horse carriage) to attract more tourists.

Urging people to adopt monuments for its upkeep, Patil informed that SECAB educational institution of Vijayapura has decided to adopt Anand Mahal in the city.

41 rape survivors terminated pregnancy in 5 yrs in Kerala

P RAMDAS @Kochi

WHEN the physical and mental trauma of sexual abuse and the resultant pregnancy became too intense for her to bear, a 15-year-old rape survivor in the state moved the Kerala High Court seeking permission to terminate her 24-week-old foetus. Though laws on medical termination of pregnancy (MTP) beyond 24 weeks are stringent in the country, the HC, recognising her suffering, granted her request.

The 15-year-old's is not an isolated case. There has been a significant rise in the number of sexual assault survivors, all of them minors, who underwent MTP in the state.

As per the information TNIE obtained via RTI, 41 minors underwent MTP in Kerala between 2019 and October 2023, with the numbers rising almost each year. Moreover, of the 41 survivors, 23 were in advanced stages of pregnancy and gave birth despite undergoing MTP. The babies are currently housed in government's care homes.

The RTI reply revealed that the young mothers who insist on taking the baby with them are accommodated in homes managed by the Nirbhaya cell of the women and child development department until both are rehabilitated. The amount spent on them is not specified and is granted as per need. "The Child Welfare Committee (CWC) concerned takes the necessary steps for the protection of children not under the care of Nirbhaya cell," said the department.

As per the reply, children in CWCs are placed for adoption. As per Section 56 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection Children) Act, 2015 adoption shall be resorted to, to ensure the right to family for the orphan, abandoned, and surrendered children.

Advocate Parvathi Menon, project coordinator of Victim Rights Centre (VRC), Kerala Legal Services Authority (KeLSA), told TNIE that it is concerning that several cases of MTP in the state are at the instance of survivors of Pocso offences and rape survivors.

"Spreading legal awareness and imparting scientific sex education among students are the only ways to curtail this," she said. She said certain instances of paedophilia are scientifically proven to be a medical condition and hence, recidivism (a convicted criminal's tendency to reoffend) can be curtailed to a large extent if accused/convicts/under-trial prisoners in Pocso cases are medically treated while in prisons. "The VRC will be soon place a proposal before KeLSA in this regard," Parvathi said.

NEED TO CALL OUT ABUSIVE TROLLS ON SOCIAL MEDIA

ABUSES and threats from Indian fans hurled at Australia and India cricketers flooded social media platforms after the former beat the latter in the World Cup 2023 finals in Ahmedabad on Sunday. Death and rape threats to Australia's star batsman at the final, Travis Head, and his family members, abusive questions asked of Aussie all-rounder Glenn Maxwell's Indian-origin wife Vini Raman over not supporting her country of origin during the match, and vile language at India pacer Mohammed Siraj were among the cascades of insult that washed over social media after the final.

This flags the practice of taking to social media to target celebrities, sportsmen, politicians and other prominent personalities whenever things go the other way. The trolls—who mostly remain anonymous behind assumed names or 'titles'—deem it their right to make their foul expressions heard, attracting other like-minded elements as they scroll on, spewing hatred. Psychologists explain this as an outcome of the feeling of acute powerlessness, but there is something more to it. Social media platforms provide these elements a safe haven for spewing venom to hurt their targets; when accused of inaction, they shoot from the shoulder of the Constitution-guaranteed freedom of expression. In oblivion remains the adage, "The freedom to swing your arm stops where your neighbour's nose begins."

The manner in which social media is used by similar elements garbed in anonymity can get even more gruesome and disgusting. The National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) reported 2,04,056 cases of posts concerning child sexual abuse in 2022, up from 1,63,633 in 2021, and 17,390 in 2020. This has got the NHRC worried about the ill effects of such material on human rights. Unfortunately, no such record is maintained on social media abuses targeting individuals or groups concerning sporting losses, communal affiliations, or linguistic and casteist links. Persistent and targeted social media abuse can have long-lasting mental health effects on victims even when no direct threat is made. It can play havoc on the mind of the victim, who suddenly has to deal with a perceived threat and its possible consequences from 'invisible' elements. Such abuse needs to be called out repeatedly so that the perpetrators can be tracked and dealt with. Technology, a conscientious citizenry and the related government agencies can effectively put down this menace.

TAMIL ACTOR'S REMARK REFLECTS DEEP MISOGYNY

MANSOOR Ali Khan said the quiet part out loud. The Tamil actor, best known for villainous roles, has reportedly been temporarily banned by the South Indian Artistes' Association (Nadigar Sangam) for saying that he wished he had had the opportunity "to shoot some rape scenes" with Trisha, his co-star in the recent Vijay-starrer, Leo. In a single distasteful statement, Khan not only sexually objectified his colleague, he also tacitly admitted that such scenes exist to titillate the male audience, shot through the male gaze. Of course, the burden of victimhood is thrust on the female character, even as the woman playing her is sexualised. Khan, doubling down on his remarks, went on to say that women he had done scenes with are now "settled" or are politicians—contempt and misogyny seeping through his bewilderment at the condemnation he has received.

The condemnation from Trisha, Leo's director Lokesh Kanagaraj and a few other actors has been surprising indeed, given how much Khan's remarks are the norm in an industry that makes hollow claims of professionalism and progressiveness. Even the Nadigar Sangam's tepid reaction is an improvement over years of looking the other way in such cases. Khan is hardly the lone offender. That the condemnation is reluctant, aimed at an outraged public rather than any real course correction, can be seen from the silence from Leo's star Vijay, who is preparing for a political career.

Tamil cinema, politics and society reflect one another. Misogyny runs deep, even amid so-called progressive parties that give platform to poets credibly accused of sexual misconduct at government events. Even Periyarists have been known to criticise young women for their attire and makeup. The news media recently defaulted to the basest definition of culture when it chased women leaving a pub like they were criminals, and described their watching a cricket match at a bar as debauchery. Young men, unfortunately, are imbibing these values even as young women yearn for freedom. Hard as it may be, the industry, media and political parties must introspect and consciously unlearn the misogyny they have been steeped in. The future of our children depends on it.

QUICK TAKE

HELP STUDENTS ON CLIMATE ANXIETY

GOOGLE recently reported that searches for "climate anxiety" and "eco-anxiety" have dramatically increased this year. Queries for the terms in English were 27 times higher in the first ten months of 2023 than in the same period of 2017. A 2021 Lancet survey showed that younger people are particularly anxious about their ecological futures. More than half the 10,000 respondents aged 16-25 years from ten countries including India said they felt sad, anxious and powerless about extreme climate events. Eco-consciousness is on most school curriculums in India. We should also teach the young how to cope with the worry that comes with such knowledge.

India dallied in voicing support for Palestine and a ceasefire, while China called for immediate global mediation. We are ceding ground as a leader of the Global South

BEIJING RUSHES IN WHERE DELHI FALTERS TO TREAD

E D MATHEW
Former UN spokesperson

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi's post on X condemning the October 7 terrorist attack on Israel and expressing solidarity with the Jewish nation has opened a Pandora's box. "Deeply shocked by the news of terrorist attacks in Israel. Our thoughts and prayers are with the innocent victims and their families. We stand in solidarity with Israel at this difficult hour," Modi wrote within just a few hours of the attack.

It was like Indian foreign policy's demonetisation moment, knee-jerk and all. Modi's disregard for India's decades-old advocacy for Palestinian statehood and the shared anti-colonial stand was glaring. It felt like the whole edifice of moral principles India has upheld over the years collapsed, and the moral heritage passed down generations by the likes of Mahatma Gandhi, Rabindranath Tagore and Swami Vivekananda was trashed.

The Israel-Hamas conflict is now in its second month and there is no respite in sight for Gaza's civilians as Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu goes about his "mighty vengeance" despite worldwide calls for an immediate ceasefire. As the world's conscience is being numbed by the steady stream of stories and images of unprecedented suffering of Gaza's civilian population, especially children, resulting from Israel's disproportionate use of lethal force that has now assumed genocidal proportions, the immorality of India's "solidarity" with Israel is getting starker by the day. It has also dealt a hefty diplomatic blow, leaving in tatters New Delhi's quest for leadership of the Global South.

Contrast China's response to the conflict. President Xi Jinping remained silent right after October 7. The day after the attack, a foreign ministry spokesperson issued a statement in which China called on "relevant parties to remain calm, exercise restraint and immediately end the hostilities to protect civilians and avoid further deterioration of the situation". The recurrence of the conflict shows that the protracted standstill of the Palestinian peace process cannot go on, China said, and called for the implementation of the two-state solution. "The international community needs to act with greater urgency," the spokesperson said.

It took another four days for India's foreign ministry to react. Spokesperson Arindam Bagchi, describing India's position on Palestine as "long-standing and consistent", said the government would like to see negotiations leading to a Palestinian state "within secure and recognised borders, side-by-side (and) at peace with Israel". But by then, the damage had been done.

Worse was yet to come. On October 27, India abstained from a UN General Assembly resolution that called for "an immediate, durable and sustained humanitarian truce leading to a cessation of hostilities". All South Asian nations except India voted for it. The reason given for India's abstention was that the resolution did not mention Hamas and that the UN needed to send a clear message against terrorism. The General Assembly passed the resolution proposed by Jordan with a whopping 120 countries, a majority of them from the Global South, voting in favour. China and France, too, favoured the resolution.

In the echo chambers of social media and in massive protests around the world, Israel is now accused of committing genocide in broad daylight, with the death toll in Gaza crossing 13,000, more than a third of them children. According to a rights group, by the beginning of November, the volume of munitions dropped by Israel on the Gaza Strip since October 7 was already about the equivalent of the two atomic bombs dropped on Japan by the US at the end of the Second World War.

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Apocalyptic scenes are everywhere, such as hungry dogs eating the remains of human bodies buried under the rubble in Gaza, which UN Secretary-General António Guterres has called "the graveyard of children". Some grim counts from the conflict are deeply unsettling.

- More children have perished in Gaza since October 7 than the annual number killed across all conflict zones since 2019.
- More UN workers were killed than in any comparable period in history.
- More journalists were killed than in any conflict since 1992.

"We remain convinced that the Palestinian people are at grave risk of genocide," wrote a group of UN special rapporteurs on human rights.

In a bid to shore up Israel's war machine and to warn regional sympathisers of Palestine such as Iran and various militant groups, both the US and the UK have ordered warships into the eastern Mediterranean. Like Washington and London, New Delhi, too, has not called for a ceasefire yet, though the recent 2 + 2 summit in New Delhi was a perfect opportunity to do so.

"Israel crossed every legal, ethical and humanitarian red line in its barbaric war on Gazans," tweeted Jordanian foreign minister Ayman Safadi. Belgium's deputy prime minister, Petra De Sutter, said that "the rain of bombs is inhumane" and made a rare European call for sanctions against Israel.

With President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva of Brazil, current president of the G20, calling the war a genocide, and South Africa recalling its diplomats from Tel Aviv and asking the International Criminal Court to issue an arrest warrant against Netanyahu, two BRICS countries with close relations with India have taken quite different positions from India's. Jordan, Turkey, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia and Honduras are among some other countries that have taken diplomatic actions against Israel. With China and Russia also calling out Israeli excesses, India finds itself an outcast among the Global South.

How will the conflict impact India? An immediate casualty could be the India-Middle East-Europe Economic Corridor (IMEC), which Modi unveiled at the G20 summit in New Delhi in September. The US-backed plan for a logistical corridor now seems knocked off-track. Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman called the conflict a "worrying manifestation" of geopolitical challenges to IMEC.

According to Eric Garcetti, the US Ambassador to India, the conflict could "pause" progress on India-US trade and connectivity initiatives like IMEC and the India-Israel-UAE-US (I2U2) minilateral group. The conflict could also have ramifications for the massive Indian-origin population living in the Middle East if India's domestic politics spills into the diaspora in the Gulf.

But beyond trade hiccups or troubles for the diaspora, what is most worrying is that by declaring solidarity with an apartheid regime committing genocide and crimes against humanity, India has squandered the moral rectitude the country has been known for thanks to the likes of Mahatma Gandhi. By not engaging diplomatically for a ceasefire—unlike China, which is actively leveraging the major Middle East players including Israel—and calling for an international peace conference to help broker a two-state solution, New Delhi is ceding leadership of the Global South to Beijing.

HOW FISCAL INCENTIVES CAN HELP US REDUCE POLLUTION

SURJITH KARTHIKEYAN
Deputy Secretary, Union finance ministry

CHANT the name of the Sun out loud. Do not urinate in the temple pool. Do not fish, do not use soap. One should not break even a strand from a snake hut. Do not waste even a single grain of rice while eating. If you happen to mistakenly touch an adult with your foot, show respect with a bowed forehead or by touching their feet. Tulsi, karuka, brahmi—none of these should be destroyed. In the late 1980s, an average rural child like me often heard such do's and don'ts from adults. There are many other customs and manners like these.

But in the 1990s, the 'rationality' of these customs started getting questioned when people started taking part in progressive movements and attending senior classes. "What would happen if you don't?" some asked. They began challenging the customs with a mix of arrogance. "Just because you don't pronounce the Sun's name, you don't get less marks in the exam. There was no accident after urinating in the temple pond. We ate the caraway fruit and the mouth didn't get sore."

Now let us look at the present condition of our environment. All the ponds are greasy and discoloured with garbage. At dusk, everyone is in front of the television or using their mobile phones. Green leaves are cut and allowed to turn white. The suffering behind cultivating a handful of rice is not even known by the eaters. There is less respect for the elders. Tulsi, karuka and brahmi take time to sprout even in a conditioned environment these days—we mostly see them in advertisements.

When we remember today that we opposed such simple practices in the name of rationality, we feel dismayed. It is not a good sign to be late in realising that just as beliefs should not be blind, objections should not be blind either. It seems there is nothing wrong in being a little conservative in keeping all the beliefs and practices that preach harmony with nature and protect it. This Earth is not a disposable cup that can be thrown away after drinking from it. In the life we have, we have a responsibility to pass it onto the next generation.

Interestingly, we are more careful when we are outside India, where hefty fines are imposed for polluting the environment and we pay up without resistance. Why can't we implement the same in India at the local self-government level? This will save a substantial amount spent by the government on the restoration of lakes, rivers and water bodies through national schemes such as the Jal Shakti Abhiyan and the National River Conservation Plan.

PRANAV KIRAN

> Fiscal measures can incentivise more sustainable practices from the automotive, petroleum and waste management sectors. They can also add to public finances for upgrading facilities

In this backdrop, it is imperative to strictly implement environmental fiscal reforms in India. Environmental fiscal reforms in the transport, energy and waste generation sectors should be the top priority. The key measures would include eco-tax reforms that would incentivise making the waste generation, energy and transport sectors more sustainable. The fiscal measures can help solve the problem of limited public finances for upgrading facilities. Such measures could, for example, include reforming fuel prices and taxes across sectors, clearly incorporating environmental, social and external costs. In this context, the potential for global human health problems caused by pollution can be discussed. Such incentives should also support new and more fuel-efficient transport equipment.

The non-fiscal reforms to reduce pollution caused by automobiles include shifting to renewable energy, introducing compressed natural gas, improving the quality of petrol and diesel, and strictly following vehicular emission norms.

India has sound environment legislations in place. They need to be implemented with the help of fiscal instruments such as fines, instead of criminal proceedings. The fines should be high enough to ensure that the crime never gets committed again. The use of emerging technologies with minimum human involvement should be the key focus of pollution control enforcement.

The promotion of environment-friendly products is also important. These are development-friendly and can also create jobs. The best examples are investments in solar technology and traditional environment-friendly yarn such as coir yarn. Coir and jute geotextiles prevent soil erosion and are much more environment-friendly than synthetic ones. Adopting these alternatives will help create jobs in the coir and jute handloom sectors. Internationally, geotextiles are generally made from plastics or some other non-degradable material. India could fill this gap with eco-friendly products.

Central and state governments' environment management schemes play an important role in promoting environment awareness by incorporating eco-friendly content in the school syllabus. It is imperative to promote such schemes with the involvement of various sections of society, including private companies.

Thus, let us adopt environment-friendly tips to save the planet: reduce energy usage, reuse and reduce before recycling, simplify purchasing habits, eat without wastage, give up using plastic, and plant a tree. These shall definitely promote intergenerational equity in the usage of natural resources.

Law panel report unlikely in winter session

ONE NATION ONE POLL: The Commission is giving final touches to the report; Parliament session to begin on Dec 4

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Law Commission of India is unlikely to submit its final report on 'One Nation One Poll' before the winter session of Parliament, which begins on December 4, according to highly placed sources.

The Law Commission, headed by Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi, is in the final stages of preparing its report on holding simultaneous elections to Lok Sabha and state assemblies across the country.

Former President Ram Nath Kovind's had on Monday asserted that India should hold simultaneous parliamentary and state assembly polls, and that all political parties should support the idea.

Kovind is the chairman of the eight-member high-level committee set up in September to examine the feasibility of holding simultaneous elections to Lok Sabha, state assemblies and local bodies. The Modi government's move to set up the Kovind panel had kicked up a political storm with opposition parties alleging that the government may push the bill in Parliament. Most of the opposition parties are not in favour of 'One Nation One Poll'. They claim it is an attack on the federal character of the nation.

In its first meeting with the Kovind panel on October 25, the Law Commission had submitted suggestions that included proposed changes to the Constitution for holding simultaneous elections in the country.

"The Law Commission is yet to submit the final report on 'One Nation One Poll' to the high-level committee and it is in the last leg. It would not be submitted before the winter session of Parliament, which begins on December 4," said the source. However, it is not clear if the government has plans to table the report during the interim Budget Session of Parliament in February if the panel submits its report by then. Voting for the 2024 general elections usually begins in April.

According to the source, the commission is deliberating on the proposed constitutional amendments as simultaneous polls would require tweaking of at least five articles of the Constitution. This includes Article 83 relating to the duration of Houses of Parliament; Article 85 relating to the dissolution of Lok Sabha by the President; Article 172 relating to the duration of the state legislatures; Article 174 relating to dissolution of the state legislatures, and Article 356 relating to the imposition of President's Rule in states. "The commission has not consulted state governments on this," said the official, adding that it is also looking at giving special powers to governors in extenuating circumstances.

This paper was the first to report that the Law Commission is likely to work out timelines for simultaneous polls for the 2024 and 2029 cycles. To synchronise Lok Sabha and assembly elections by 2029, the commission may propose to extend or curtail the tenures of respective state assemblies.

Endorsing the idea, Kovind on Monday said that many committees including the parliamentary committee, Niti Aayog, Election Commission of India and others have said that the tradition of 'One Nation One Election' needs to be revived in the country. The members of the panel include Home Minister Amit Shah, NK Singh, Harish Salve and others.

Though Congress leader in Lok Sabha Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury was also named as a member, he had declined to be part of the committee saying that "it's an eyewash".

The committee's mandate involves examining and recommending specific amendments to the Constitution, the Representation of the People Act and any other laws and rules that would require amendments for holding simultaneous polls.

One of its terms of reference is to examine if constitutional amendments would have to be ratified by the state assemblies. It has been also asked to analyse and recommend possible solutions if there are scenarios like a hung house or defection.

THE ARTICLES OF CHANGE

In order to conduct simultaneous elections, at least 5 Articles of the Constitution must be amended. They are:

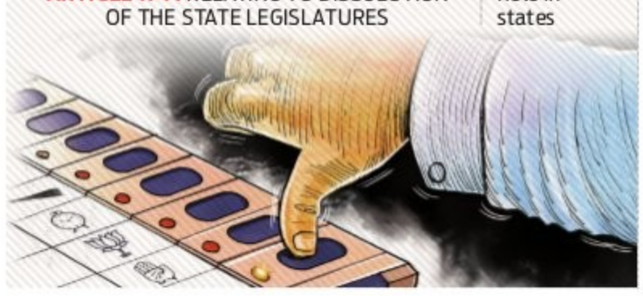
ARTICLE 83 relating to the duration of Houses of Parliament

ARTICLE 85 relating to the dissolution of Lok Sabha by the President

ARTICLE 356 relating to the imposition of President's Rule in states

ARTICLE 172 : RELATING TO THE DURATION OF THE STATE LEGISLATURES

ARTICLE 174 : RELATING TO DISSOLUTION OF THE STATE LEGISLATURES



THE LAW COMMISSION IS LIKELY TO WORK OUT TIMELINES FOR SIMULTANEOUS POLLS FOR THE 2024 AND 2029 CYCLES

TO SYNCHRONISE LOK SABHA AND ASSEMBLY ELECTIONS BY 2029, THE COMMISSION MAY PROPOSE TO EXTEND OR CURTAIL THE TENURES OF RESPECTIVE STATE ASSEMBLIES

Kovind panel's mandate involves recommending amendments to laws to facilitate one election

One of its terms of reference is to examine if constitutional amendments have to be ratified by state assemblies

BJP moves EC against Rahul's 'panauti' remark

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) on Wednesday moved the Election Commission against senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's 'pickpocket' and 'panauti' (bad omen) remarks against Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

During his election campaign in Rajasthan on Tuesday, the Congress MP referred to Modi as 'panauti' and blamed his presence in the World Cup cricket final as the reason for India's defeat.

"Our boys were going to win the world cup, but Panauti made them lose. The people of this country know," Gandhi said at the rally.

In another poll rally in Rajasthan on Wednesday, Gandhi said, "The pickpocket never comes alone, there are three people. One comes from the front, one from the back and the third from the distance."

A BJP delegation, which included its general secretary Radha Mohan Das Agarwal, urged the Election Commission to take action against Gandhi for his jibes against the PM.

"Comparing a prime minister to a pickpocket and 'panauti' are unacceptable. It is a sign of deteriorating levels of political discourse," said the letter.

"Calling any person a pickpocket not only amounts to vicious abuse and personal attack but also character assassination of that person against whom such remark has been made with a clear intent to harm his reputation and mislead the public," the letter said.

Comparing a prime minister to a pickpocket and 'panauti' are unacceptable. It is a sign of deteriorating levels of political discourse

BJP's letter to EC

The BJP also demanded action against Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, accusing him of falsely claiming that Modi's caste was included in Gujarat's OBC list when he was the state chief minister.

"The remarks of Kharge and Gandhi, who are indulging in spreading a web of lies and are habitual offenders, call for initiating criminal proceedings and strict action against them," the party said in the letter.

Held captive in Qatar, eight Naval veterans' plea to be heard today

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

THE appeal filed by the legal team appointed by India to challenge the death penalty awarded to eight naval veterans imprisoned in Qatar's Doha since August 30, 2022, will come up for hearing on Thursday.

The Qatar's Court of First Instance had passed a judgment on October 26, awarding death penalty to eight Indian naval veterans — Captain Navtej Singh Gill, Captain Birendra Kumar Verma, Captain Saurabh Vasisht, Commander Amit Nagpal, Commander Purnendu Tiwari, Commander Sugunakar Pakala, Commander Sanjeev Gupta, and sailor Ragesh — who were employees of the Al Dahra company based in Doha.

The Indian government had expressed deep shock at the judgment. "We are deeply shocked by the verdict of the death penalty and are in touch with the family members. Our legal team is exploring all options," Ministry of External Affairs had said after the judgment.

The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) had, earlier this month, said an appeal has been filed in the case. India had also got another round of consular access to the detainees on November 7.

"The judgment is confidential. There is a court of first instance that gave the judgment, which was shared with the legal team. Considering all legal options, an appeal has been filed. We are in touch with the Qatari authorities," MEA spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said on November 9.

Meanwhile, family members of the jailed naval veterans had a second meeting with External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar earlier this month. This is the second interaction that the families have had with the minister in a month.

"The families are hoping against hope that the appeal will be considered. There will be two more appeals filed in this court, if this appeal isn't accepted," said a source.

Details of the Qatar court's judgment have not yet been made public. Qatar has not issued any statement on the same either. There were talks that the families were made to sign an indemnity bond in order to know details of the judgment. Some families had reservations on signing of such a bond.

Meanwhile, India is holding back-channel talks involving other countries to help in the repatriation of its naval veterans. The US and Turkey are amongst the countries that have been approached regarding this issue, according to a source.

"The US could get Qatar and Egypt to mediate for the release of hostages and bring about a humanitarian ceasefire in the Israel-Hamas conflict on Wednesday. This has raised our hope for a similar mediation for our naval veterans," said a source.

India, Australia hold joint military exercise

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

A CONTINGENT of 81 personnel drawn from the Indian armed forces on Wednesday departed for Australia to take part in the second edition of AustraHind-23, a joint military exercise. It will be conducted at Perth from November 22 to December 6.

"The aim of the exercise is to foster collaborative partnership and share best practices between the two sides. The exercise will also promote interoperability while undertaking multi-domain operations in urban and semi-urban terrain under Chapter VII of United Nations on peace keeping operations."

The UN's Chapter VII is about action with respect to threats to peace, breaches of peace, and acts of aggression.

The personnel includes 60 from a Battalion of the Gorkha Rifles of Indian Army, One officer from Indian Navy and 20 personnel from Indian Air Force.

The Australian Army contingent comprising 60 personnel will be from the 13th Brigade. The Australian contingent will include 20 personnel each from the Royal Australian Navy and Royal Australian Air Force. AustraHind was instituted in 2022 and the first edition was conducted in Mahajan, Rajasthan. It is planned to be an annual training event to be conducted alternatively in India and Australia.

The joint exercise will promote exchange of ideas and jointly rehearse tactics, technique and procedures for conducting tactical operations.

Training curriculum also includes sniper firing, and jointly operating surveillance and communication equipment to achieve a high degree of situational awareness. Casualty management and evacuation will also be rehearsed besides tactical actions at company or battalion level.

The exercise will also help in promoting understanding between the two militaries and further strengthen the defence cooperation between the two friendly nations.

INS Sumedha's port of call in Mozambique

Indian Naval Ship Sumedha arrived at Maputo, Mozambique on Wednesday as part of the ongoing extended operational deployment to Africa.

"The port of call is aimed at strengthening long-standing diplomatic relations, reinforce maritime cooperation and boost interoperability between both the navies," Indian Navy said.

Professional interactions, cross-deck visits, planning conferences and joint EEZ surveillance from November 23-25, 2023, are scheduled during the visit.

Activities during the port of call include courtesy calls by the commanding officer on various dignitaries and government officials of Mozambique, including the Navy Commandant, Mozambique Navy and Mayor of Maputo City.

'Hamas attack was to scuttle Abraham Accords'

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE Hamas attack on Israel, killing roughly 1,400 people and taking about 240 hostage, was "deliberate in design, and planned to be diabolical enough to evoke an aggressive and unprecedented reaction from Israel," said Israeli scholar, futurist and best-selling author Prof David Passig. He called the October 7 attack a "turning point in the history of the Middle East".

Speaking to this paper on the sidelines of the Synergia Conclave in Bengaluru, Passig said the Hamas attack was against the emerging power blocks in the world. "It was to destabilise the new block in the Middle East, which was coming up following the Abraham Accords," he added. The Abraham Accords are treaties normalising diplomatic relations between Israel, the UAE, Bahrain, Sudan and Morocco, which were facilitated by then US President Donald Trump between August and December 2020.

"The Abraham Accords were the first step forward towards an emerging Middle East block, and Israel and Saudi Arabia were in the process of enlarging the new integration in the Middle East. It would have given Israel some legitimacy in the region and there was a possibility of some more Muslim nations joining the block. The other block comprising Iran and Russia found this dangerous and saw it as a threat. Though Iran has denied involvement in the October 7 attack, we know that Hamas is a proxy of a proxy (Iran-led Hezbollah) of another proxy (Russia). The Hamas attack was not just about (Israel's) occupation (on Gaza and the West Bank). It was far more layered and was to destabilise the normalisation of relations between Saudi Arabia and Israel. It has put the block on freeze, at least for some time," said Passig.

'No quick end to war'

Prof David Passig, who specialises in technological, social and educational futures, had predicted 9/11 in the 1990s, when he had stated that a terrorist attack would take place on a major symbol of world order in the early 21st century, and the 2008 financial crisis in 1998. On Wednesday, he warned that the Israel-Gaza conflict may not end soon. "It is likely to drag on and may take three to five years. This phase may be more challenging and crueller," Passig said.

He added that the attack has also brought Israel to a stage where it cannot have neighbours that will annihilate it. "Israel is facing Hezbollah in the north. It may have to enter Lebanon and Syria, which will not only spill the conflict in the Middle East, but also have a cascading effect and force countries to join the opposing power blocks," he cautioned.

In September, Saudi Arabia's Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman had for the first time publicly acknowledged that his country was moving "closer" each day towards normalising relations with Israel and called it "the biggest historical deal since the Cold War".

Passig, who specialises in technological, social and educational futures and is Associate Professor at Bar-Ilan University in Israel, had predicted 9/11 in the 1990s, when he had stated that a terrorist attack would take place on a major symbol of world order in the early 21st century and the 2008 financial crisis in 1998. He warned that the Israel-Gaza conflict may not end soon. "It is likely to drag on and may take three to five years. This phase may be more challenging and crueller. The Palestinians are the most tragic group in modern history. They are doomed to have a state and doomed if they don't," said Passig.

The Israeli scholar also spoke about the emerging power blocks; one backed by the US and the other by Russia-China. "No country can afford to be neutral any longer. The world entered a decade of confrontation cascading the Russia-Ukraine war, with a greater conflict with China," Passig added.

SC to hear pleas challenging validity of sedition law under IPC in January

JAISON WILSON @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court has decided to hear in January next year a batch of pleas challenging the constitutional validity of the colonial-era penal provision of sedition under the Indian Penal Code (IPC).

Earlier, the apex court had declined the Central government's request to await Parliament's decision on the proposed Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita Bill 2023, which is to replace the IPC, observing that the new law would have "prospective application" and govern the cases filed after it is brought into effect.

During Wednesday's hearing before a bench led by Chief Justice DY Chandrachud, petitioner's counsel senior advocate Gopal Sankaranarayanan prayed that the pleas be listed before a seven-judge bench. The Chief Justice said he would constitute an appropriate bench to hear the case.

The bench appointed advocates Prasanna S and Pooja Dhar as nodal counsels to facilitate the compilation of case laws and other statutory materials before the hearing.

Earlier, the SC had said that if the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita Bill — which proposes, among other things, the repeal of the sedition law and introduction of a new provision with a wider definition of the offence — becomes a law, it cannot be applied with retrospective effect.

In the previous hearing, the court said that the Centre is not planning to delete the provision but have it in a new form. "There is no way we can avoid judging the constitutionality of the Section 124A," it had said.

It had noted the constitutional validity of Section 124A was tested by the SC on the basis of a challenge that it was ultra vires to Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution in the 1962 judgment of Kedar Nath Singh versus State of Bihar.

'See if law on driving license needs change'

The Supreme Court on Wednesday asked the Centre to review by January 17 the legal question of whether a person holding a driving license for a light motor vehicle is also entitled to drive a transport vehicle with unladen weight not exceeding 7,500 kg. It said these is a policy issue impacting the livelihood of lakhs.

'Should larger bench hear '22 ED verdict?'

The apex court said its "limited ambit" was if the 2022 verdict that had upheld the Enforcement Directorate's powers to attach property involved in money laundering was to be reconsidered by a larger bench of five judges. It was hearing pleas seeking reconsideration of the July 27, 2022 verdict of a three-judge bench.

Special budget likely for Banke Bihari temple corridor

PM Modi is expected to make an announcement of multi-crore project during his visit to Mathura-Vrindavan on Thursday

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

AFTER the Allahabad High Court nod to the development of Vrindavan (Mathura) Banke Bihari Temple Corridor, a plan proposed by the Uttar Pradesh government, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is expected to make an announcement of the corridor and also the special budget for the project during his visit to Mathura-Vrindavan on Thursday.

Following the expected announcement by the PM, while the administration will proceed with steps towards bringing the proposed corridor on the ground, the Sevayat Goswamis, who manage the temple, which depicts the child form of Lord Krishna, are not keen on speaking about the court order and maintain that their affairs had been administered by Munsif Court in Mathura since long. So they always respect a court order.

While hearing a bunch of PILs regarding the crowd management and safety and security of the devotees visiting the famous temple in Vrindavan, the High Court had directed the state government to rid the entire area around the temple of the encroachment to facilitate the movement of devotees.

However, the court restrained the state from using ₹262.50 crore for the bank account of the deity for the construction of the temple corridor. It asked the state authorities to utilise its own money for the "secular activity of facilitating public interest."

The court had also cautioned the UP government against any interference in the rights of Sevayats and in puja-archana and 'Shringar' carried out by them.

Significantly, the proposal for the development of the temple corridor encompasses the purchase of five-acre land around the temple for facilitating smooth darshan and puja by the devotees, parking facilities and management of other public amenities.

As per highly placed sources, an amount ₹300 crore is estimated for the land acquisition, ₹505 crore for corridor development and another ₹100 crore for the restoration of Banke Bihari temple.

In one of the petitions in the High Court, it was submitted that Swami Hari Das Ji, who had established the temple, did not create any trust or endowment in favour of anyone.

On the contrary, Goswami Onkar Nath and Goswami Phundi Lal proclaimed themselves to be the legal heirs and were entitled to do the Pramukh Seva of Thakur Shree Banke Bihari Ji.

The petitioner had also contended that the judgment given in 1939 in a suit filed by Goswami Onkar Nath, the court had recorded the fact that there was no trust or endowment in favour of anyone.

The petitioner had specifically pleaded before the Court that due to the lack of management inside the temple, it was difficult for the devotees to offer prayers and have proper darshan of the deity.

As a result, the division bench, headed by Chief Justice Pritinker Diwaker and comprising Justice Ashutosh Srivastava, in its order said: "Human life cannot be put at stake just because somebody has objection. In our opinion, even the private temples where devotees come for darshan, safety and security of human life is required to be treated of utmost importance and the government is bound to make necessary arrangements."

Meanwhile, an intervention application was filed by about 250 shopkeepers and residents of the area in and around the temple against the proposed expansion plan.

They argued that as per the popular belief, the 'Kunj Galis' (narrow streets) were sacred 'galis' where Lord Krishna and Radha Rani still carry on their 'leelas'.

Significantly, of the total 120-150 streets in Vrindavan, 22 are present in and around the main Banke Bihari temple and are just 3-10 ft in width thus making the approach to the temple difficult given the number of devotees going beyond five lakh, especially, during the weekends and special occasions.

The inner courtyard of the Banke Bihari temple, which was established in 1864, is just 48 ftX 48 ft and is capable of hosting just 1,000 people at a time.

However, in the proposed corridor plan submitted by the state authorities, five acre of land has to be acquired around the temple. The proposed acquisition would require the removal of around 300 temples and residential and commercial constructions in the vicinity. Of these, 149 are residential buildings, 66 commercial and rest mixed.

As per sources, over 200 such constructions have already been surveyed, identified and marked to be removed to pave way for the corridor.

As per the plan, the proposed corridor would have three paths leading to the temple. The one approaching the temple from the side of river Yamuna would be in 2100 sqm area. Here the corridor would be developed into two parts — a lower portion spread over 11,300 sqm area bearing the puja shops and an upper portion spread over 10,600 sqm area. It would be 3.5 metre above the lower portion and would be connected through a ramp.

A 37,000 sqm Banke Bihari Bridge parking area has also been proposed in the plan. Moreover, besides a suspension over river Yamuna, smaller bridges are also proposed in front of the main temple and Devraha Baba Ghat.

'Rid entire area around temple of encroachment'

The Allahabad High Court on Monday gave its nod to the development of Vrindavan (Mathura) Banke Bihari Temple Corridor. The plan was proposed by the Uttar Pradesh government. The court also directed the state government to rid the entire area around the temple of the encroachment to facilitate the movement ensure safety and security of the devotees. The High Court, however, directed the Yogi Adityanath government not to use ₹262.50 crore lying in the bank account of the deity for the construction of the temple corridor.

BJP may ask Shinde to change MPs in '24 polls

Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde led Shiv Sena will not be allowed to field all sitting Lok Sabha MPs that belong to their factions. There is high anti-incumbency against the five sitting Lok Sabha MPs of Shinde-led Shiv Sena factions. The BJP will ask the CM to replace them otherwise, the party will field their own candidates in these constituencies. The party also planned to get three to four seats from the Shinde factions and field the BJP candidates to ensure the victory in 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Madhuri Dixit to contest on BJP ticket?

The BJP is looking for a Bollywood face in Mumbai North. The party is trying hard to pursue either erstwhile Bollywood diva Madhuri Dixit or Canadian turned Indian actor Akshay Kumar to field in Mumbai North Central constituency for 2024 Lok Sabha elections. BJP top leadership has decided to replace the incumbent BJP Lok Sabha MP Poonam Mahajan as they are not happy with her performance as parliamentarian.

Vikhe-Patil succeeds in what Shinde failed

Revenue minister Radharkrishna Vikhe-Patil is number four minister in terms of hierarchy in the Eknath Shinde cabinet, yet he was successful to get Prime Minister Narendra Modi for the 'Jal Poojan' of a small dam, Nilwande, in Shirdi. On the other hand, the CM, despite his repeated attempts, has failed to persuade PM Modi to inaugurate the Metro service connecting Belapur to Kharghar. The buzz in the political circle is that Shinde has been fast losing grip in Delhi. Therefore, the urban development department led by him could inaugurate the metro train service after a delay of six months. Similar is the situation for the local train service between Seawood and Kharkopar. The project is ready, yet the inauguration has been delayed.

'Ads camouflaged as news reports'

The Election Commission on Wednesday issued a show-cause notice to the president of Rajasthan Congress for allegedly camouflaging political advertisements in newspapers as news reports. It asked state Congress chief Govind Singh Dotasra to respond to the notice by 3 pm on Thursday. The BJP had moved the EC against the Congress advertisements ahead of the November 25 assembly polls.

Cong govt played with future of youth: Rajnath

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said on Wednesday that the Congress government in Rajasthan has played with the future of the youth by leaking recruitment exam question papers. He addressed meetings in support of BJP candidates in Kherwara and Jhadol in Udaipur district ahead of the November 25 assembly polls. Singh said the situation in Rajasthan is so bad that a woman MLA considers herself unsafe.

Yogi calls Gehlot govt 'mafiagiri'

Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath termed Congress government in Rajasthan as 'mafiagiri' in Jodhpur, the stronghold of Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot. Yogi said that the Congress plays appeasement politics and talks about the interests of only one community. He added that 2 years ago in Jodhpur, swords were waved on the streets and stated that if those rioters were in UP, they would have been tackled immediately. "Where has Rajasthan been in the last five years? The state is number one in corruption, riots and anarchy," said Yogi.

Modi steps up attack on 'dynastic' Cong

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

DOUBLING down his criticism of the "dynasty politics of Congress", Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday alleged that Sachin Pilot was being made a victim by Congress high command due to a revolt by his father in the past.

According to PM Modi, late Rajesh Pilot at one point of time had raised his voice against the first family of the Congress. Sachin Pilot is one of the top Congress leaders in Rajasthan but has been kept waiting for the CM post over the past five years. His differences with Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot have frequently grabbed national headlines.

In a spirited address at a rally in Shahpura in Rajasthan, PM Modi contended that the nation's oldest political party is actively seeking to 'punish' Sachin Pilot, the son of a rebel who opposed dynastic rule back in 1996.

"You know the history of Congress. Whoever tries to raise his voice against wrongdoings in the party will lose political space because of the high command sitting in Delhi," he alleged.

In the 1990s Rajesh Pilot had fought an election against Sitaram Kesari who was then the choice to be the Congress president supported by the Gandhi family. Accusing the Congress of perpetuating 'dynastic' politics, PM Modi issued a cautionary note, asserting that any Congress member daring to voice dissent against the party's actions would face severe political repercussions. According to the Prime Minister, Congress leaders in Delhi are purportedly orchestrating the reinstatement of Ashok Gehlot as Chief Minister.

The PM said that given the multiple failures of the Gehlot government, the Congress has no chance of retaining power in Rajasthan.

After Rahul, Priyanka takes a swipe at PM

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

A day after senior Congress leader Rahul Gandhi called Prime Minister Narendra Modi a 'Panauti' in an election rally in Rajasthan, party general secretary Priyanka Gandhi took the PM to task over his trip for the World Cup.

She slammed Modi for seeking publicity through World Cup cricket and questioned why the PM is unable to visit Manipur, which has been burning for the past seven months.

Addressing a rally in Shahpura in Jaipur district on Wednesday, Priyanka claimed PM Modi went to Ahmedabad to watch a cricket match, hoping to claim a bit of credit if India won. He, however, did not visit the violence-hit Manipur as there was a crisis, Priyanka said, adding that Manipur has been engulfed in ethnic violence for nearly seven months but the Prime Minister did not go there.

"In the recent world cup, our team reached the final with their hard work... Modi ji reached there so he might also get a bit of credit if the team wins," she said, adding the Prime Minister would go to a place if there is pride and honour, but stays away from all crisis situations. She wondered when the PM can so quickly go for a cricket event, why he cannot go to try and help people in the country who are facing major problems.

On the Congress side, Rahul Gandhi also campaigned for the Assembly elections in Rajasthan to be held on November 25. In his rallies, Rahul targeted three ways in which Modi and the BJP dispensation are looting the country.

He claimed that PM Modi distracts people, Home Minister Amit Shah scares people, while capitalist cronies such as Adani come and quietly steal people's money from their pockets.

DECIDE

BENGALURU FIRM TO HELP IN SILKYARA RESCUE OPERATION

ENS @ Bengaluru

TO aid the ongoing rescue work at Silkyara in Uttarkashi, a Bengaluru-based company that specialises in aerial intelligence for mineral exploration, mining, tunnelling and infrastructure, has joined the rescue efforts to pull out 41 labourers who have been trapped since November 12.

Bengaluru's Squadrone Infra and Mining Pvt Ltd will deploy advanced drones for area mapping to aid the rescue efforts. The drones will be operated by a team of six skilled mining engineers, drone pilots and geotechnical experts, capable of manoeuvring drones within tunnels to map the area and assess the probabilities for safe rescue tunnelling. The company will employ its drone-based geophysical and Emesent hover map technology for underground applications and mapping remote and inaccessible areas. The emergency request to join the rescue operation came from Brig Vishal Varma, DDG, Border Roads Organization, who is heading the Silkyara rescue mission.

"The deployed drones are equipped with cutting-edge Simultaneous Localization and Mapping (SLAM) technology and AI capabilities. These features enable the generation of comprehensive data on the structure and geotechnical disturbances within tunnels and mines. This technology is utilised for underground and tunnel geotechnical applications, and it is instrumental in mapping the tunnel site to formulate an effective rescue plan. The integration of drone technology with AI and Machine Learning ensures accurate and enhanced visualization, enabling swift and effective decision-making for tunnelling operations. This innovative approach not only expedites the rescue process but also enhances overall operational efficiency," said Cyriac Joseph, founder and CEO, of Squadrone Infra and Mining, in a press release on Wednesday. Squadrone's onsite team will work in tandem with a dedicated backend team that will operate from the company's headquarters in Bengaluru to provide support and coordination to ensure seamless integration of data and insights, he added.

Senior doctor among 4 J&K officials sacked for 'anti-national' activities

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Jammu and Kashmir administration on Wednesday sacked four government employees, including a senior doctor, who is also president of Doctors Association Kashmir (DAK), a teacher and a policeman, for their alleged anti-national and terror links in the Union Territory, officials said.

The four terminated employees have been identified as Assistant Professor (Medicine) at SMHS Hospital, Dr Nisar-ul-Hassan; police constable Abdul Majeed Bhat; laboratory bearer in Higher Education Department Abdul Salam Rather and teacher in Education Department Farooq Ahmad Mir from Kupwara.

The order said that Lt Governor is satisfied under subclause (c) of the proviso to clause (2) of Article 311 of the Constitution of India that in the interest of the security of the state, it is not expedient to hold an inquiry in the case of three employees and accordingly dismissed the four employees with immediate effect.

Under the proviso (C) of Article 311(2), the government is empowered to terminate an employee without recourse to the normal procedure if it is satisfied that his/her retention in public service is prejudicial to the security of the state.

In three years, the Lt Governor administration has invoked Article 311 (2)(c) of the Constitution to sack over 50 employees for their alleged anti-national activities.

Former J&K Chief Minister and NC vice president Omar Abdullah said that all these orders will be revisited once there is a change in government in J&K.

More than 50 employees sacked in last 3 years

In three years, over 50 employees have been sacked for alleged anti-national activities. The four sacked on Wednesday were Assistant Professor (Medicine) at SMHS Hospital, Dr Nisar-ul-Hassan; police constable Abdul Majeed Bhat; Higher Education Department's Abdul Salam Rather and teacher in Education Department Farooq Ahmad Mir.

Will revisit order if we come to power: Omar

Former J&K Chief Minister Omar Abdullah said all these orders will be revisited once there is a change in government in J&K. "J&K admin has created an abysmal record of sorts by dismissing more employees than recruiting new ones. Snatching the livelihood of Kashmiris on false trivial grounds isn't just collective punishment," said former CM Mehbooba Mufti.

Now, inspectors can probe cases against STs in J'khand

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Jharkhand Cabinet of Wednesday authorised the sub-inspector- and inspector-level police officers to investigate the cases registered under Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989. Earlier, officials below the rank of DSP were not authorised to investigate such cases.

According to Cabinet Secretary Vandana Dadel, there is a steep rise in such cases, but number of DSP rank officials is very low in the state. "So far the cases registered under Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act could be investigated by the officials not below a DSP rank official, but after this decision sub-inspector and inspector rank official can also investigate such cases," said Dadel.

As of now, there are only 106 DSP rank officials in Jharkhand, while nearly 4,200 cases under the Act remain pending, she added.

The cabinet on Wednesday also gave its approval for a total of 32 proposals, including increasing the honorarium of 'Parganait', providing leadership to the tribal social system at the village Panchayat level in Santhal Paragana region, from ₹1,000 to ₹3,000.

It also approved to the proposal of payment of ₹1.2 crore as compensation to 24 victims and dependents of 1984 anti-Sikh riots in Bokaro. It also gave its approval to a proposal to amend statutes on minimum qualification for appointment of teachers under which a PhD degree is no longer mandatory to apply for the post of assistant professor at higher education institutions.

TRUCE FROM TODAY, HAMAS TO FREE 50 ISRAELI HOSTAGES

Four-day ceasefire, release of at least 150 Palestinian prisoners held by Israel also part of the breakthrough agreement brokered by Qatar

JERUSALEM

ISRAEL and Hamas said Wednesday they had agreed on a four-day truce in the Gaza war during which the Palestinian militants would free at least 50 of the hostages taken on October 7 attack.

In turn, Israel would release at least 150 Palestinian prisoners and allow more humanitarian aid into the coastal territory after more than six weeks of bombardment, heavy fighting and a crippling siege.

The hostages to be freed are women and children, and the Palestinian prisoners are women and detainees aged 18 and younger. The process could begin Thursday at 10.00 am local time (0800 GMT), according to regional media reports.

The deal — negotiated with Qatar, the United States and Egypt — is the first major breakthrough in Gaza's bloodiest ever war that has killed thousands and left much of the territory in ruins.

Palestinians inspect the damage after an Israeli strike on a house in Khan Yunis on Wednesday | AFP

Although it promises a truce that could be extended if more captives are freed, Israel has vowed to stick to its war aim of destroying Hamas and rescuing all 240 hostages held in the war zone.

"We are very happy that a partial release is pending," Israel's Hostages and Missing Families Forum group said in a statement. "As of now, we don't know exactly who will be released when."

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, whose cabinet approved the truce deal after a marathon overnight session, told his ministers it was a "difficult decision but it's a right decision".

The cabinet's sign-off was one of the last hurdles after what one US official described as five "extremely excruciating" weeks of talks.

Hamas welcomed the "humanitarian truce" and an official of the Islamist group told AFP that "the resistance is committed to the truce as long as the occupation honours it".

Israel said that, to facilitate the hostage release, it would initiate a four-day "pause" in its air assault of Gaza.

If the initial phase works, a subsequent phase could see 150 more Palestinian prisoners released in exchange for 50 more hostages, said an Israeli government document naming 300 eligible prisoners.

Hamas and Islamic Jihad group sources earlier told AFP the truce would apply to ground operations as well as air operations over southern Gaza. AFP

'Excruciating' 5 weeks that led to Israel-Hamas ceasefire agreement

WASHINGTON

A secret cell headed by CIA and Mossad chiefs, and multiple contacts between US President Joe Biden and leaders of Israel, Qatar, and Egypt underpinned an "excruciating" five weeks resulting in the truce deal, a US official said.

In a detailed account to reporters by a senior US official speaking on condition of anonymity, a picture has emerged of a tense international effort beset by sudden communication cutoffs with Hamas, disputes over hostage lists, and safety concerns on the ground.

The US official said the "extremely excruciating five-week process" of negotiations began with a call from Qatar to Washington and the Israelis, in a bid to free some of the hostages.

Qatar, which brokered the agreement, "asked that a cell be established to work on the issue very carefully, very secretly, together with the Israelis", the US official said.

Biden administration officials were having "daily, sometimes hourly, senior level of engagement with Qatar, with Egypt and with Israel on the issue of the hostages," according to the official.

The release of two American citizens on October 20 was seen as "a pilot process" for the overall negotiations, the official said. Their safe return "gave us some confidence that... Qatar really could deliver through the cell that we had established."

Soon Mossad director David Barnea and CIA chief William Burns were also deeply involved. A flurry of phone calls between Biden and Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu followed on October 20, 22, 23 and 25. Hamas came under intense pressure to produce a list of hostages. Communication proved difficult as messages had to pass from Doha or Cairo into Gaza and back. By October 25, Hamas was saying it could guarantee about 50 releases in the first phase. As Israel's bombing of Gaza intensified and civilian deaths soared, Biden called Netanyahu on November 14 urging him to "move forward with this deal," and the prime minister ultimately agreed, the official said. AFP

Pak interim PM summoned in missing Baloch students case

ISLAMABAD

A top Pakistani court on Wednesday summoned caretaker Prime Minister Anwaar ul Haq Kakar to personally appear before it on November 29 in a case involving 55 missing students from the restive Balochistan province and asked the government if it should refer the matter to the UN.

The Islamabad High Court directed Kakar to appear before it if he did not secure the recovery of the missing Baloch students according to the recommendations of the Baloch Enforced Disappearance Commission, Dawn reported. Justice Mohsin Akhtar Kayani passed the order while hearing a case regarding the implementation of the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry on Enforced Disappearances.

The commission was established in 2011 to trace missing persons and fix responsibility on the individuals or organisations responsible for it.

At the previous hearing, held on October 10, the IHC instructed the state to fulfil its responsibility in recovering the missing Baloch students, The Express Tribune reported. Interim Prime Minister Kakar had last month admitted that according to a UN subcommittee's estimates, around 50 people had been forcibly disappeared in Balochistan. "Sometimes, we receive complaints in which they give us 5,000 names claiming they are missing. [They are] not ready to accept any UN best practices on collection of data of missing persons," Kakar had said.

PAK GOVT WANTS IMRAN'S NAME IN NO-FLY LIST

Islamabad: Pakistani authorities on Wednesday recommended placing the names of jailed former prime minister Imran Khan and 28 others on the Exit Control List due to their alleged involvement in the Al-Qadir Trust corruption scandal. Popularly called the 'no-fly list', the Exit Control List (ECL) is a list of people prohibited by law from leaving Pakistan by any means. The recommendation was made by the subcommittee of the cabinet which met with the caretaker Interior Minister Sarfraz Bugti in the chair, according to a statement by the Ministry of Interior. The committee deals with placing or removing names from the ECL. The National Accountability Bureau (NAB) had proposed a no-fly ban on the former premier

Tight 4-way contest as Netherlands set to elect new leader after 13 years

THE HAGUE

DUTCH voters cast ballots Wednesday in a cliffhanger election poised to usher in a new political era after Prime Minister Mark Rutte's record 13-year stint in charge.

Opinion polls suggest the result is far too close to predict, with any of four candidates — including one from the far-right — within striking distance of power in the EU's fifth-largest economy. The vote is being closely watched across Europe and further afield: the Netherlands tends to punch above its weight in the EU and on the world stage, with steadfast support for Ukraine and eurozone fiscal discipline.

Polls suggested huge numbers were undecided going into election day, making the result a literal coin-toss for one voter.

"For me, this is a bit of a different election because anyone can win. In the end it came down to two candidates. I tossed a coin and chose one," Vincent Spijker, a 54-year-old quality control manager, told AFP after casting his vote.

Voters casts their ballots at a polling station in Scheveningench | AFP

Curbing immigration, solving a crippling housing shortage that especially affects Dutch youth, and the cost-of-living crisis have dominated the campaign. The war in Gaza and climate change have received less focus.

Whoever comes out top will face a long struggle to form a workable coalition, a process that will likely last well into next year. The last Rutte government took 271 days to be formed. "To me there are a lot of parties, some of them a bit useless really. That makes it a bit difficult to vote," 21-year-old student Talitha van Zanten told reporters. AFP

EU MPs kill proposal to cut chemical pesticide use

BRUSSELS

EU lawmakers on Wednesday rejected a proposal to cut pesticide use by half by the end of the decade, dealing a blow to the bloc's push towards more eco-friendly farming.

The full European Parliament shot down, in a 299-to-207 vote, a recommendation endorsed by its environment committee based on a text put forward by the European Commission in 2022.

The proposal called for a 50% reduction in chemical pesticides by 2030 and a total ban in "sensitive areas" such as parks. A French MEP with the leftwing Greens grouping, Marie Toussaint, said on social media that "the right and the extreme right torpedoed adoption of the pesticide regulation". But a German lawmaker with the centre-right European People's Party (EPP), Peter Liese, said "today is a good day for farmers".

The parliament also narrowly rejected a motion asking for the proposal to be returned to the environment committee for amendment, meaning the text was essentially finished under the current legislature's mandate. EU elections to choose a new European Parliament will take place in June next year.

The EPP and other right-leaning groups are keen to have farmers onside for the polls, creating tensions over the commission's drive to put the bloc on the path to a carbon-neutral, more ecologically durable future.

Europe's powerful agricultural lobby has come out against legislative measures crimping production. A key biodiversity bill aimed at rewilding EU land and water habitats, which got initial agreement earlier this month, was watered down from the original text presented by the commission.

ECONOMIC GROWTH BEATS FORECAST

Singapore's economy grew more than expected in the third quarter, data showed Wednesday, while officials narrowed their full-year forecast owing to subdued demand for its exports in key markets including the United States and China. The 1.1% expansion in July-September was driven by the construction industry and services sector. The reading from the trade ministry was better than the 0.8% growth expected and well up from the previous three months. Officials said they saw the economy growing 1.0% throughout 2023, as against the 0.5-1.5% that was previously estimated

GOVT REBUFFS CALLS TO CANCEL CONCERT

Russian actress killed as Ukraine shells dance hall

MOSCOW

A Russian actress who was giving a performance to Russian troops in occupied Ukraine was killed in a Ukrainian strike. Polina Menshikh's death was confirmed by her theatre. The actress was reportedly giving a show to celebrate a Russian military holiday on November 19, the BBC reported. Soon after the attack, she was rushed to a hospital where she died.

The report said about 20 Russian soldiers, who were watching Menshikh's performance at a dance hall in occupied Ukrainian territory were also killed in the shelling.

In a separate incident, Russia said a Ukrainian drone struck a group of journalists, in the frontline region of Zaporizhzhia, wounding a reporter from the Rossiya 24 state TV channel. Moscow has repeatedly accused Kyiv's army of attacking its reporters, including last month when three correspondents from the Izvestia news outlet were injured by shelling in Donetsk region.

"As a result of a Ukrainian drone attack on a group of journalists, a correspondent of the Rossiya 24 TV channel, Boris Maksudov, was wounded by shrapnel," Moscow's defence ministry said.

The reporter was given medical assistance and is not believed to be in a life-threatening condition, it added. At least 15 media workers have been killed in Ukraine since Moscow launched its assault last February, according to the Committee to Protect Journalists.

Meanwhile, Ukrainian air force said Russia attacked Ukraine with more than a dozen attack drones and a cruise missile. This came as authorities in the southern region of Odesa announced they earlier shot down a rare Iranian-designed attack and reconnaissance drone. Ukraine has been bracing for an increase in Russian attacks on critical infrastructure — particularly energy facilities — as sub-zero temperatures set in. The air force said the barrage had been launched from Russia's southeast.

₹ sees lower volatility relative to peers: Das

He says this is due to the strength of underlying macro-fundamentals of the economy and reassuring forex buffers

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

EVEN as the rupee exchange value fell significantly over the week, Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Governor Shaktikanta Das on Wednesday said the local currency has witnessed "low volatility" and orderly movements as compared to its peers.

Speaking at an event in Mumbai, Das said, "On the exchange rate front, Indian rupee (INR) has exhibited low volatility and orderly movements relative to peers despite elevated US treasury yields and a strong US dollar," Das said. He said this is due to the strength of the underlying macro-fundamentals of the economy and reassuring forex buffers. The dollar index and the US treasury yields have softened in the last three or four days.

The RBI governor said the central bank's rate hikes, liquidity tightening moves and supply-side measures undertaken by the government cooled off the consumer price inflation to 4.9% in October. Softening in core inflation gives the RBI the conviction that 'monetary policy seems to be working'. However, he expressed concerns over "overlapping and continuing shocks from food inflation". The RBI's monetary policy will be 'watchful' about the emerging trends and "actively disinflationary", Das said.

Meanwhile, at the interbank foreign exchange market on Wednesday, rupee opened at 83.33 and touched a low of 83.34 against the greenback and settled at 83.32 against the dollar, registering a fall of 3 paise from its previous close. Rupee closed at an all-time low of 83.35 against the dollar on Monday.

As per forex traders, a muted trend in domestic equities weighed on the local currency while a correction in oil prices is positive for the currency.

Rupee traded flat on Wednesday, however, dollar index is trading at 11 week's low levels. Anuj Gupta, head of commodity and currency, HDFC Securities, said, "Subdued momentum seen in the rupee is due to no major activity. We are expecting it may appreciate. It has a support at 83 and resistance at 83.50 levels."

In the same event, Das said the RBI's tougher stance on unsecured loans earlier this month is a "preemptive" move in the interest of sustainability. Das advised lenders to be more cautious and spot any trend of risk building early, though the banking system continues to be resilient and there is no immediate cause of worry for the system.

DEEPFAKES

Govt to meet social media players today

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TELECOM minister Ashwini Vaishnaw will meet representatives of social media platforms on the issue of deepfakes on Thursday (November 23).

According to sources, the meeting, to be presided over by telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw, will be attended by all social media players including Meta, X (formerly Twitter) and others. The government's decision to convene this meeting came after growing concerns of the potential misuse of deepfakes technology. The government is firm resolved to push digital platforms to crack down on deep fakes.

Recently, several deepfake videos targeting leading actors went viral, sparking outrage and raising apprehensions over misuse of technology and tools for creating fake content and narratives. In a statement, Vaishnaw emphasised that the safe harbour immunity clause would not be applicable if these platforms fail to take sufficient measures in addressing the menace of deepfakes. he said the government had earlier issued a notice to companies regarding this matter.

Mamaearth net profit rises 93% to ₹29 cr in Q2

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

HONASA CONSUMER, the parent firm of Mamaearth, on Wednesday reported a 93% increase in its net profit to ₹29.4 crore for the September quarter of this fiscal. Last year during the same quarter, it recorded ₹15 crore profit.

Its consolidated revenue from operations for the second quarter stood at ₹496.1 crore, a 21% increase from ₹410.4 crore reported in the year-ago period.

Varun Alagh, Chairman and CEO, Honasa Consumer, said, "Beauty market in India is brimming with opportunities. Honasa has been able to deliver market beating growths and constantly improve the profitability portfolio of the company. Our business has grown by 33% year-on-year (YoY) in H1FY24, which is 3.8 times the median growth of FCMG companies in India."

The company's largest brand, has entered the Top 15 BPC brands in India, overtaking many legacy brands, as per a Jefferies report. "Our profits grew faster than our revenues, with H1 PAT growing 1,377% to ₹54 crore, Dr Sheths has become the fourth brand from Honasa portfolio to enter the ₹150 crore club after Aqualogica and Derma Co," he added.

Total expenses stood at ₹463.9 crore, an 18% rise from ₹392.3 crore a year ago. As per NielsenIQ, brands of Honasa retailed at 1,65,937 outlets in September, a jump of 47% in offline distribution YoY. The Derma Co, second brand from Honasa portfolio, has achieved an ARR of ₹380 crore and Aqualogica, third brand has become the fastest to achieve an ARR of ₹180 crore.

Raymond m-cap shrinks by ₹1,500 cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

RAYMOND LIMITED market capitalisation declined by₹1,500 crore as the company's share prices fell for the seventh consecutive session on Wednesday amid uncertainty over the family dispute between its managing director Gautam Singhania and wife Nawaz.

Company's share prices fell 3.77% on Wednesday and settled at ₹1,677. Share prices fell 12% from ₹1,847 to ₹1677 between November 13 and November 22. Nawaz reportedly demanded 75% of his estimated net worth of ₹1.4 billion for their two daughters, sparking concerns among investors. She has also alleged that her husband assaulted her and her daughter.

Gautam Singhania is considering establishing a family trust to manage and transfer of family assets, as per news reports. However, only he will serve as the trustee for the wealth, which is not acceptable for his wife. The couple separated earlier this month.

On Monday, ICICI Securities initiated a hold call for the share and a target price of ₹1,860. It has cited rising input cost, challenging demand environment and likely increased competition from new players entering the category as the concerns.

Last four years have been a golden time-period for Raymond (share price up by 6x), driven by several structural changes in the organisation – rapid scale-up of the real estate business, sharp focus on cost optimisation, simplification of group structure through potential de-merger of the lifestyle business and doubling the size of engineering business as steps in the right direction, according to the brokerage.

On Tuesday, Tata Technologies, an engineering services company, raised ₹791 crore from 67 investors via anchor book. The funds were raised at the upper limit of the ₹475-500 price range. The issue of Gandhar Oil Refinery India was fully subscribed within 60 minutes of opening and by the end of Day 1 it was subscribed 5.54 times. The retail quota was subscribed 6.92 times, while the NII portion garnered 7.70 times bids. The IPO of Flair Writing Industries was subscribed fully by noon. "The issue (Tata Tech) is asking for a market cap of ₹20,283 crore with P/E of 29x on consolidated basis, which seems the issue is reasonably priced," said Prashanth Tapse, research analyst at Mehta Equities.

Unicorns see low attrition rate, pick up in hiring

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

AS many as 111 unicorns have an attrition rate of 4.72% for the time period between September 2022 and July 2023.

Three unicorns Zerodha, Zoho and Hike managed to maintain attrition rates under 1%, says PrivateCircle Research analysis.

Unicorns are privately held start-up companies that are valued at over $1 billion.

Other unicorns that had below 2% attrition rates include Amagi, Postman, Freshworks, Acko, Cred, Games24x7, Druva, Icertis and Dream11, among others. December 2022 saw 44,295 employees leave unicorn companies, which was the highest in the time period, and this could be a result of layoffs or employees quitting their jobs.

The market intelligence platform said in its analysis that hiring at unicorn start-ups have picked up from April 2023, jumping to 43,361 hired employees in July 2023. Some unicorns that saw significant workforce increment in July were Pb Fintech, BigBasket, and Rebel Foods, among others.

Overall, 111 Indian unicorns employed 4,42,714 people in July 2023, a net jump of 12,765 from 4,29,949 employees recorded in September 2022. Delhi unicorns' workforce saw a net rise of 52,420 employees between September 2022 and July 2023. Some of the mass recruiters from Delhi included Paytm, PhysicsWallah, PolicyBazaar, Delhivery and BharatPe.

MDBs' reforms, crypto regulation, DPI reiterated at virtual G20 meet: FM

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE five agenda points including multilateral development banks' reforms, digital public infrastructure(DPI), road map for crypto assets, climate finance and financing cities of the tomorrow, had been reiterated during the virtual meet of G20 held on Wednesday, finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman said.

"There was overwhelming appreciation and keenness to take these to next presidency meeting.. . several reiterations were made to make better MDBs .. several MDBs are already collaborating with each other and exploring options in innovative finance," she said. "So, the international expert group's report has been welcomed. Many aspects of it have been set on course. The boards are taking it for each of the banks, particularly, world bank has started doing a lot of action, which are reflective of what the recommendations are," she added. She gave the example of African development bank and the Inter-American Development Bank, who are collaborating to develop hybrid capital instruments.

"US administration has asked the US Congress to increase the world bank financing by more than 25 billion. Germany has pledged 305 million euros of hybrid capital , that can be used by the World Bank to have additional lending of 2.4 billion euros over 10 years," Sitharaman stated. She said advancements in G20's plan for a shared regulatory framework for cryptos.

McGahey who became the first transgender player to feature in international cricket expressed disappointment with the ICC's ruling.

FUTURE PROOFING: INDIA SEEK SURYA SOLACE

Fewer than 100 hours post the World Cup final, both finalists get ready to joust again, this time in the five-match T20I series

GOMESH S @ Chennai

"IT'S okay... relax everyone... we have this..," reads one of many Instagram stories of Glenn Maxwell in the wee hours of Wednesday. In the background is Adam Zampa, sleeping on the couch. His next picture is Travis Head, sleeping with the World Cup medal. A couple of hours ago, Head had posted a picture of him and Zampa with caption — we ain't leaving.

None of this should surprise anyone. After all, it had been less than 72 hours since they had their best day of their cricketing careers... beating India in front of 92,000-plus fans to win their sixth World Cup title. Which is why, despite having to turn up at Visakhapatnam on Thursday for the first of five bilateral T20Is against India, they were having a blast. For all you know, they might not even start in the playing XI for the first game. Nor should they be expected to after winning the World Cup less than 100 hours ago. And they have enough players in the squad to take on India in the first game.

The Indian camp, however, is not the same. Neither is the squad. With Hardik Pandya ruled out for at least another month, Suryakumar Yadav will leading a bunch of youngsters who had won the gold in the Asian Games. There are a few spill overs from the WC squad — Ishan Kishan, Prasidh Krishna and Shreyas Iyer (for the last two games) — as well. Although it seems like an inconsequential T20I series, zoom out a little and one can see the bigger picture.

There is a T20 World Cup in about six months. Rohit Sharma hasn't played the format since the last edition and it is still not clear if he will. In the absence of Hardik, it is the beginning of a new cycle where India test their bench strength against one of the stronger teams in the world. Can Yashasvi Jasiwal and Ruturaj Gaikwad take on Jason Behrendorff up front? Is there space for Jitesh Sharma? Will Tilak Varma and Rinku Singh launch the Australians like they did against West Indies and Ireland, respectively? Is Shivam Dube expected to continue as a spin basher? How will the pace attack featuring Arshdeep Singh, Mukesh Kumar and Avesh Khan fare? And then there is the return of Axar Patel and Washington Sundar. This group of players could likely be a part of the larger pool from which the T20 World Cup squad will be selected six months down the line. With the T20I team touring South Africa and playing at home against Afghanistan over the next 60 days, what better way to get them started than against Australia?

Despite the "disappointment" of the loss on Sunday, that is what stand-in captain Surya said on the eve of the game. "I met the squad today (Wednesday). I told them let us be selfless when you go on to the field. I am a guy who doesn't think about personal milestones. I have told them to keep the team first. Keeping the (2024) T20 World Cup in mind, all the games we are going to play are very important," he told reporters at Visakhapatnam.

If the World Cup is at one end, the Indian Premier League (IPL) auction is around the corner and this could well be the stage for some of the players — Indian and Australian — to throw their hat in the ring and rise the stakes. After all, recency bias has led to overseas players go for big money in mini auctions. Head, who is still buzzing from the glory of Sunday, is expected to do that as well. Which is why, over the next ten days, despite the little excitement, there is a lot to look forward to when India and Australia go up against each other.

Change of leadership group

With Hardik Pandya out, this is the chance to see how Suryakumar Yadav marshals his troops. He has done it before for Mumbai Indians. With Shreyas Iyer joining the squad as vice-captain for the last two games, is there going to be a new leadership group in this format?

50 OVERS DONE, OVER TO T20Is

India and Australia may have been involved in a World Cup final less than 100 hours but there's no sleep for the wicked. Obligations mean both sides begin a 5-match T20I series on Thursday. A look...

Chance for fringe players

Both sides have rested at least half the players that featured at the World Cup. So that gives an opportunity for players on the outside looking in, especially for the likes of Rinku Singh, Tilak Varma and Ruturaj Gaikwad. The three of them are expected to feature heavily.

Keep an eye on spinner Sangha

There's a lot of focus on Tanveer Sangha, the leg-spinner who was a reserve during the World Cup. A leg-spinner, the 21-year-old has excelled in age-group cricket. He has featured for Australia before but may well go on to be a deputy for Adam Zampa in both white-ball formats.

Australia captain Matthew Wade

It is difficult it will take time, it can't be that you wake up next morning and you forget everything what happened. It was a long tournament. We would have loved to win it. But as you get up in the morning the sun rises again, there is light at the end of the tunnel. You have to move on. It is a fresh team (T20 squad), really looking forward to the challenge. — Suryakumar Yadav on loss in World Cup final

Vijay Hazare: Saurashtra take on Kerala

AGENCIES @ Alur

THE 2023-24 Vijay Hazare Trophy gets underway on Thursday, with defending champions Saurashtra taking on Kerala at the KSCA Cricket Ground here.

Test batter Cheteshwar Pujara will be under the spotlight along with skipper Jaydev Unadkat. Last season's runners-up Maharashtra will get their campaign underway versus Jharkhand in Jaipur.

With skipper Ruturaj Gaikwad on India duty for the upcoming T20Is against Australia, Maharashtra will likely be led by their T20 captain Kedar Jadhav. As for the Maharashtra bowlers, Rajvardhan Hangargekar and Satyajeet Bachhav made an impact in the previous season and the team would be banking on them once again. Also to watch out for would be Tamil Nadu's Narayan Jagadeesan along with B Sai Sudharsan — the duo that broke records last year. The group-stage encounters will take place between November 23 and December 5, which will be followed by preliminary quarterfinals (December 9), quarterfinals (December 11), semifinals (December 13-14) and the final on December 16.

Select fixtures: Kerala vs Saurashtra, Hyderabad vs Manipur, Pondicherry vs Railways, J & K vs Karnataka, Andhra vs Himachal Pradesh.

Anahat, Abhay reach squash finals

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

TAMIL Nadu's Abhay Singh and Velavan Senthilkumar will face each other in the final of the 79th National Squash Championships, in Chennai on Thursday. In the women's final, Anahat Singh will meet her fellow Delhi player Tanvi Khanna.

Singh, ranked 63rd in the world rankings, defeated Maharashtra's Suraj Chand 11-6, 11-2, 11-3 to make it to the summit clash, while Asian Games gold medallist Harinder Pal Singh Sandhu fell short in another semifinal against Senthilkumar in 11-7, 11-7, 11-8.

In the women's category, Maharashtra's Urvashi Joshi fought well against Anahat, but couldn't get past the teenager who bagged the match 11-7, 11-3, 11-8. Similarly, Khanna eased past Tamil Nadu's Rathika Suthanthira Seelan 11-1, 11-5, 11-8. This is the first national championship since the inclusion of squash in the Olympics. "It's a dream for all athletes (to represent their country in the Olympics) and it could come true for me. It's the biggest of all games and I really hope to be a part of it," Singh told this daily after Squash's inclusion in the Olympics.

NEW DELHI: India fast bowler Avesh Khan has been traded to Rajasthan Royals (RR) from Lucknow Super Giants (LSG), who has acquired the services of top-order left-handed batter Devdutt Padikkal in a direct swap ahead of next year's Indian Premier League. Avesh was purchased by LSG 2022 mega auction for ₹10 crore. Padikkal, on the other hand, was bought by RR for ₹7.75 crore.

Keeping faith: Experienced Pathak ready for challenges with Paris in mind

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

KRISHAN Pathak has great memories of playing in front of the packed Chennai crowd as they showed up in numbers for India's Asian Champions Trophy assignment before the Asian Games in Hangzhou. "It's good to be back in Chennai," the Indian goalkeeper, representing Punjab in the 13th Hockey India Senior Men's National Championship, told this daily.

"I have good memories of playing in Chennai for the Asian Champions Trophy. The ACT was just before the Asian Games and many teams that we eventually played against in the continental tournament participated in the Chennai event as well. It was an ideal preparation and a confidence booster for us. The crowd in Chennai was like a 12th man for us during the ACT. They came supporting not just for us but for other teams as well," Pathak mentioned.

The goalkeeper with the experience of more than 100 internationals started his senior career alongside veteran PR Sreejesh in 2018. Pathak believes he has learned a lot from the former Indian captain. "I have been playing alongside him since 2018. It's great to share the field and dressing room with him as I get to learn a lot from him. I think a goalkeeper is required to have those leadership qualities in him to keep things under control and keep defense intact. I have learned a lot of things by observing him over the years. And he has undoubtedly helped me grow as a player," he added.

Along with the former captain, Pathak believes current Punjab and India captain Harmanpreet Singh has also left a mark on the state and the national team and that has helped the dynamics between those two teams. "As a leader, even if he is leading Punjab or India, he is the same person. He has been guiding a lot of us on and off the field as well. Because he has that experience and knowledge of the game, we can play the way we want. I think Punjab players have that bond between them as we have played a lot of hockey together at different levels. Many of us have also played together in the junior WC as well. So we are well aware of each other's game and the bonding," he added.

If the captain has inspired the Indian team to play their best hockey, coach Craig Fulton has played a massive role in preparing the team for that level since taking over the job from Graham Reid. The former South African international has overseen two major undefeated campaigns for India, while also confirming the Olympic quota for the team. Pathak credits the coach for his systematic approach towards recent challenges.

"He has been supportive since he joined the team. Many new players were part of the national team and have had game time since the Pro League. A player also knows that he will get the opportunity and it can help him improve his game. He is very communicative with players and seeks feedback from us and that has helped our team. Even before starting these tournaments, he told us that we were going to approach the tours step-by-step. And now the next step in that direction is Paris. We will follow that vision and procedure in the Olympics as well," determined Pathak concluded.

Chandigarh and Jharkhand players in action in the ongoing Senior Men's National Hockey Championship in Chennai on Wednesday | D SAMPATHKUMAR

Bengal, Jharkhand continue their dominance

On the sixth day of the national championship, Chhattisgarh dominated Gujarat in group A after their loss against Haryana as Junaid Ahmed scored a hattrick (8', 34', 39'). Spearheaded by Rajendra Oram's four goals (4', 8', 27', 37'), Bengal continued their dominance in Group E as they inch closer to the quarterfinal. After their 6-1 loss against Delhi in the opening game, Telangana came to put points on the board with a strong 15-0 win over Arunachal. Dadra & Nagar Haveli and Daman & Diu Hockey, defeated Hockey Bihar 7-1 in the second game of the day with Dharmendra Pal scoring two goals (27', 42').

In Group F, Jharkhand continued their undefeated run as they registered a 2-0 win against Chandigarh. Along with Jharkhand, Punjab, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh, Karnataka, Odisha and Haryana have registered two wins so far in the competition. The group stage will continue till November 24, with the knockout stage starting the next day.

WORLD CUP QUALIFIERS

Qatar game, a reality check that was due for Blue Tigers

VISHNU PRASAD @ Bengaluru

IN the end, it turned out to be the reality check that was due.

Before the Indian football team played Asian champions Qatar in their second game of 2026 World Cup qualifiers, there were murmurs over whether a result was there to be had. Fuelling the optimism was India's 12-game unbeaten run in 2023 followed by a win at Kuwait in their opening game of the qualifiers.

But any such hopes were misplaced as the Blue Tigers looked every bit the minnows in Bhubaneswar on Tuesday. While they did have chances to rustle the net themselves, a 0-3 scoreline could have been a lot worse, thanks to some unconvincing performances at the back.

India will not play another game before the 2024 Asian Cup in January and this result was perhaps a reminder to calibrate expectations. Australia and Uzbekistan await. The former won two games in the 2022 World Cup. The latter has such a strong football culture that their U17 team just beat England to qualify for the quarterfinals of the ongoing U17 World Cup, a tournament for which India is yet to qualify on their own merit.

India coach Igor Stimac said just as much in his post-match press conference. "For us, the important thing is the World Cup qualifiers," he said. "Knowing that we are not going to get enough time for the Asian Cup, I do not see the Asian Cup as an important tournament for us. I don't want my players to get injured there. That is all I am going to take care of, because three games against such big opponents like Australia, Uzbekistan and Syria; we might do some things well and we are going to fight. But I am not worried about that. I need to make sure we get enough points in the group in our World Cup qualifiers. So we make sure that we have another five to six home games in the third round here. And that will be a huge benefit for Indian football for the future."

India lost 0-3 to Qatar in Bhubaneswar on Tuesday | DEBADATTA MALLICK

Stimac's words can be interpreted in a number of ways. There was more than a hint of petulance from someone who did not get what he wanted — a preparatory camp before the Asian Cup. There was perhaps the confidence of someone who had his contract extended till 2026 recently and therefore is not at the mercy of his team's performance at the Asian Cup. There was also an acceptance of the status quo, an attempt to temper down expectations in a country where reality and the recent past is so easily forgotten until inevitable disappointment rudely brings both back up. The Indian football team, at its current level, is not in a position to challenge in Asia or qualify for the World Cup. Even getting close to that will be nothing short of a miracle.

Watching the game from the stands was a certain Arsene Wenger, here in his capacity as the chief of global football development at FIFA. A day before, he had told the AIFF exactly what to do while inaugurating their academy in Bhubaneswar — to equip 5-15 year-olds to be the best technical players in their category. And twenty years later, those five-year-olds might just get India to realistically be in contention for a World Cup spot.

Messi's men sink Brazil as tempers flare in stands

AGENCIES @ Rio de Janerio

ARGENTINA defeated Brazil 1-0 on Tuesday in an ill-tempered 2026 World Cup qualifying clash marred by pre-match crowd trouble that forced kick-off to be delayed.

A 63rd-minute header from veteran defender Nicolas Otamendi secured victory for Argentina as the world champions bounced back from last week's defeat to Uruguay to beat their bitter South American rivals. The win at Rio's iconic Maracana Stadium leaves Argentina on top of the South American qualifying standings with 15 points from six games.

In other South American qualifiers on Tuesday, Darwin Nunez scored twice as Uruguay beat Bolivia 3-0.

Bangaram Beach

SEASIDE SOJOURN

Here are six lesser-known coastal destinations across India that are a must-visit this New Year!

SRUSHTI KULKARNI

In an era dominated by the quest for unique experiences, a growing number of beach enthusiasts are turning their gaze toward the lesser-known coastal gems that adorn Indian shores and islands. Away from the bustling tourist hubs, these undiscovered havens offer tranquil escape, inviting intrepid travellers to explore the untouched beauty of India's coastline. From the sun-kissed shores of the Malabar to the serene landscapes of Coromandel and Andaman's hidden coves — a wave of curiosity is propelling people towards these secluded beaches. With a penchant for exploration, individuals are shunning the familiar in pursuit of hidden paradises, where the rhythmic lullaby of waves accompany the discovery of pristine sands and untouched vistas. This emerging trend heralds a shift in travel trends, as wanderers seek solace in the secrecy of coastal retreats, leaving footprints in the realms of uncharted serenity.

Kizhunna Beach, Kerala

Surrounded by local traditions and customs, Kannur is a district located in the northern part of the Indian state of Kerala popular for its beautiful coast. Although several beaches are sprinkled across the area, Kizhunna Beach — with golden sands, coconut groves and the Arabian Sea providing a picturesque setting — is one such beach that offers a private getaway from the crowds where one can also witness local fishing activities.

Ramchandi Beach, Odisha

Located near the mouth of the Kushabhadra River where it meets the Bay of Bengal, Ramchandi Beach is known for its untouched clear blue waters and lush greenery. Named after the presiding deity, Goddess Ramchandi, one can watch both a sunset and a sunrise from this shore. Additionally, the Ramchandi Temple hosts an annual fair during the Hindu festival of Durga Puja, attracting a large number of devotees.

Padubidri End Point Beach, Karnataka

Having received the 'blue flag' certification, Padubidri End Point Beach in Udupi is a 500-metre stretch of the coastal line that has been developed to enhance the visitor's experience with amenities like a 200-metre safe swimming zone, bamboo seating, bamboo huts, hammocks, swings, an open-air gym and more. Flanked by the River Kamini, this spot is ideal for an outing with friends and family.

Yarda Beach, Andhra Pradesh

Residing in a tranquil atmosphere, Yarda Beach near Visakhapatnam is a go-to destination for those seeking a peaceful retreat. Although the verdant vistas of the sea and cliffs constantly beckon you to take a dip in the pristine waters here, we advise you not to swim as the currents are strong and the slope is steep. Not to mention the resence of multicolour crabs that are ready to give you a taste of their aggression.

Serenity Beach, Puducherry

The French capital of India, Puducherry, is a beauty in itself but if you talk about a secluded beach then Serenity is the place! Aptly named, this beach is where you escape from the madness of the city. Earlier known as Kottakuppam Beach, the location is blessed with a natural stone bridge that leads you towards the Bay of Bengal. Sea crabs and jellyfish are a common sighting here and so is surfing.

Bangaram Beach, Lakshadweep

Beach and 'booze' go hand-in-hand for most people on vacation and Bangaram being the only beach on the Lakshadweep Islands where you can drink makes it worth taking the complicated route to get there. However, the island also boasts a bounty of flora, fauna and a wide variety of birds and wildlife. You also get to experience the phosphorescent plankton washing ashore to impart a neon blue glow on some nights.

Harry Potter's Forbidden Forest Experience to take over Sentosa in Feb!

Expect iconic scenes and creatures recreated from the Harry Potter and Fantastic Beasts series

In a spellbinding revelation for Potterheads, the enchanting world of Harry Potter is set to cast its mesmerising spell on Sentosa Island with the Asia-Pacific debut of Harry Potter: A Forbidden Forest Experience. Transporting fans into the heart of the Wizarding World, this immersive light trail is scheduled to weave its magic along the Coastal Trail starting from February 3, 2024.

Picture this: a moonlit woodland trail illuminated by otherworldly lights, guiding attendees through the infamous Forbidden Forest — a setting that has given shivers to even the bravest wizards. Award-winning theatrical designers and experiential creators have painstakingly recreated iconic scenes from the Harry Potter and Fantastic Beasts series, bringing to life magical creatures like Hippogriffs, mischievous Nifflers and more.

For those who've dreamt of facing Buckbeak or witnessing The Weasleys' flying car crash into the Whomping Willow, The Forbidden Forest Experience promises not just a visual feast but also interactive elements, including wand duels and the opportunity to cast your very own Patronus charm to illuminate the darkened woods.

As the trail concludes, a village awaits at the end, offering a chance to reward yourself with a sip of Butterbeer and peruse an exclusive gift shop. Immerse yourself in the world of Harry Potter by taking home exclusive merchandise from the franchise movies, turning this magical evening into a cherished memory.

The Forbidden Forest Experience made its debut in the UK in 2021 before enchanting audiences in the US in October 2022. The Singapore edition, crafted by Warner Bros Discovery Global Themed Entertainment in collaboration with entertainment discovery platform Fever, promises a unique blend of immersive storytelling and magical encounters.

Tickets for this mystical escapade went on sale on November 16, starting at a wizardly ₹4,000 for adults. The experience spans approximately 45-60 minutes, with the walking trail taking around 30–45 minutes. The Coastal Trail on Sentosa, adorned with lush greenery, provides the perfect backdrop for this nocturnal adventure. Wizards, witches and muggles of all ages are invited to partake in the magic, but do note that this is a guided outdoor trail conducted during the bewitching dark hours.

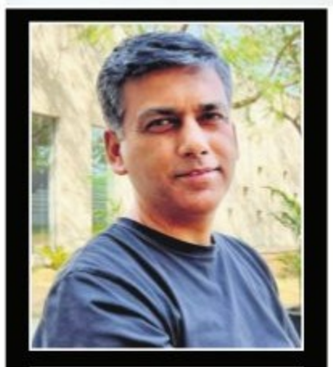
A still from the film

MYSTIQUE OF A MAESTRO

In his documentary, filmmaker Nirmal Chander Dandriyal delves into the life of renowned classical musician, Annapurna Devi, first wife of sitar virtuoso Pt Ravi Shankar, and the enigma surrounding her

POOJA DAS

IMAGINE a house overlooking the serenity of the vast Arabian sea in Mumbai and within it the whispers and memories of one of the most prolific artistes of Hindustani classical music, Annapurna Devi. The renowned surbahar (bass sitar) player was hailed as a virtuoso and seen as unmatched in her craft but soon she was to withdraw from the public eye. It is in the exploration of this enigma that Nirmal Chander Dandriyal's new documentary 6-A Akash Ganga will present a rare insight into the life of Annapurna Devi at the Bangalore International Centre on November 24.



There is hardly any material available on YouTube, the little that is available, is badly recorded and without Annapurna Devi's permission

Nirmal Chander Dandriyal, filmmaker

"The Sangeet Natak Akademi had approached me in 2017 to see if I could do a film on Annapurna Devi. But things were not working out so I had reached out to the Annapurna Devi Foundation and her disciple Pt Nityanand Haldipur, who manages the foundation, convinced Maa [Annapurna Devi] to do this film. She agreed only to let me in the house but I was not allowed to meet her. I saw it as an interesting creative challenge with all the myths around her," says Dandriyal, three-time recipient of National Film Awards.

The long journey of filming her life's story was also amidst which Chander directed a film for the Sangeet Natak Akademi, Guru Maa, after Devi passed away in 2018. "Guru Maa focused on her as a guru. I wanted 6-A Akash Ganga to focus on her as a guru, as a mother, as a wife and as a woman as well as explore the guru-shishya relationship. There was this lovely atmosphere in the house, which is why the film is named after the house she lived in. We also have never heard material of her so a lot of things are completely new," says Dandriyal.

Annapurna Devi's withdrawal from public life is often relegated to her relationship with her first husband, the renowned sitar virtuoso, late Pt Ravi Shankar but the film tries to go beyond the myths. "The big story about Ravi Shankar and her life is also part of the film but the final thing for me was what she did with it; how she still gave back so much to the music world. She created these great musicians, such as Pt Hariprasad Chaurasia, Pt Nikhil Banerjee, Pt Nityanand Haldipur," says Dandriyal. He further added, "Even though she didn't perform, she became this great guru. She didn't want anything. In this day and age, when everyone is running after quick accolades, there was this musician who the whole world wanted to listen to... but she wouldn't perform." Reportedly the only outsider to hear her play after her public withdrawal was George Harrison, the lead guitarist of the famed band Beatles, whom she allowed to sit in on one daily practice session.

Talking about the challenge of filming and cutting through the myths, Dandriyal says, "There is hardly any material available on YouTube, the little that is available, is badly recorded and without her permission. People will agree or disagree but the effort was to not make a film on hearsay." The documentary which is told through the eyes of her disciple and flautist, Nityanand Haldipur, says that her side of the story was important to be told. "It was a difficult task because there are so many things that people might not like and it is her side of the story that she never uttered to anybody except us. Her truth is what we try to show here," he says.

"What you will see is the final 80 minutes of a journey, so much is outside it, where one is just sitting quietly in her house, facing the Arabian Sea and the breeze hits you. These quiet moments when she's inside the room not meeting you is what helps shape the film," says Dandriyal.

Indian classical vocalist Kishori Amonkar's works will come alive at a concert on November 25

SANJANA JAYASHANKAR

WHEN one thinks of Indian classical vocalists, the sensational Kishori Amonkar cannot be forgotten. To remind the audience of her time and works, SurSagar, a Bengaluru-based organisation dedicated to promoting Hindustani music in Bengaluru, is organising Unsung Kishori in association with the Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR), Bengaluru, on November 25, 5.30pm onwards.

The concert is set to take place at Canara Union, Malleswaram, where late Amonkar's unheard compositions of bandishes, ghazals, bhajans and abhangs, will be delivered by one of her most loyal disciples and performing vocalist, Pt Raghunandan Panshikar. "Amonkar is often associated with khyal and the light classical genres thumri and bhajan, which emphasise the importance of delivering bhav or emotion to the listener. But through life, she secretly experimented with lyric-heavy ghazals to deepen her expertise in Hindustani music," says Radhika Joshi, one of the organisers from SurSagar, narrator, classical vocalist, and disciple of Pt Raghunandan Panshikar. She adds, "It's not a genre you associate with Kishori Amonkar." Yet, in this upcoming event, Panshikar, a student of Amonkar for about 20 years, will perform the artiste's ghazals, which very few people have heard or even known, as she never performed them to a crowd.

Panshikar also takes an interest in different genres other than classical vocals. He has worked on his diction of Urdu to improve the performance of his Hindi compositions, which he will show during the concert. According to Joshi, his speciality is his versatility in presentation. Accompanying Panshikar, a carefully-curated lineup of instrumentalists will also be performing, such as Milind Kulkarni on the harmonium, Vinayak Netke on the tabla, Rohit Kulkarni on the keyboard and Abhijit Bhade on the side rhythm.

The first half of the concert promises to feature never-heard-before bandishes composed by Amonkar, showcasing a combination of one full khayal and several smaller, fast-paced compositions.

The second half will also include unheard ghazals, shabad kirtans and Marathi, Hindi and Kannada bhajans, proving a testament to her interest and drive for knowledge in the realm of Hindustani music and beyond.

This city-based citizen group is using 3D tech to preserve thousand-year-old inscriptions scattered around the city

ENGRAVED IN TIME

POOJA DAS

WHEN you think of a citizen project preserving 1,000-year-old inscriptions scattered in Bengaluru, you would probably picture an office full of archeological tools, and a lot of dusty books and papers strewn around. What you would not imagine is the office of the Inscription Stones of Bengaluru with its state-of-the-art technology and highly-advanced data processing units. Leading this collaboration between historical conservation and technological solutions is Udaya Kumar, an engineer and founder of Bengaluru Inscriptions 3D Digital Conservation Project.

"Most often, we read the history of kings and dynasties, very rarely is there a place-centric narration of history. One of the most important sources of history is inscriptions. Each is a record of something that has happened in the past but they are very rarely about kings," says Kumar. The citizen project comprising 4 to 5 research scholars along with a slew of volunteers has created an expansive one-of-a-kind digital map with information on about 1,500 such inscriptions in and around the city, with exact coordinates. "People tend to think that Bengaluru is a new city, but one of the inscriptions on this map from Begur is from 500 to 700 AD which is around 1,500 years old," explains Kumar.

The inscriptions mapped are sourced from epigraphy collections, archaeological reports, journals, articles, and other similar publications. The green hearts represent they have been verified and conserved but the red skulls are already lost. "About 40 per cent of the inscriptions are gone. It stood there for 1,000 years and in the last 20 years, it's gone. Simply because it's in the way. People don't know that they are valuable," says Kumar.

Apart from conserving and creating awareness, the project, funded by the Mythic Society, a public institution dedicated to Indic studies founded in 1909, started creating digital models of these inscriptions in January 2021. "So far, we have digitally constructed 600 inscriptions. The digital image processing enables us to make it easier to read and conserve a piece of history while it is in good condition," says Kumar

Kumar, who accidentally chanced upon one such inscription in 2017 near his home says, "It helped me discover my place. Having travelled the world, I realised my village is as historic as any other place. It generates pride for the place you come from." Kumar believes that the merit of conservation is tangible if you see it from a community perspective, adding, "If you think you come from insignificant places, you disown your roots and it degrades. When a child looks at an inscription, they grow up believing in their roots, their language and culture."

The project is also working on software where all the letters from the Kannada inscriptions are scanned and more than 30,000 such images are digitally saved to not only make it accessible but also possible to chart the evolution of the alphabet. Kumar says that we are running out of time to save these inscriptions. "We don't need individual heroes but a response from the system to fix it," he adds.

Eye on the matter

Unlike corneal transplants, which can fail due to many reasons, keratoprosthesis is a versatile procedure that can improve the patient's quality of life

DR PALLAVI JOSHI

IN the realm of ophthalmology, technological advancements have allowed us to reimagine the possibilities for the people who are struggling with severe corneal diseases. Keratoprosthesis is often referred to as the 'artificial cornea', is a revolutionary procedure that has changed the lives of countless individuals who are suffering from bilateral end stage corneal blindness.

The cornea is the transparent, dome shaped outer layer of the eye, responsible for focussing light onto the retina. There are several conditions like chemical injuries, autoimmune disease, drug reactions (SJS) that can damage the cornea that can lead to severe vision impairment or even cause blindness. Traditional treatments like corneal transplants may not be suitable for all the patients, that prompts the need for innovative alternatives.

Keratoprosthesis is a surgical procedure that is designed to restore vision in individuals with compromised corneas. The impact of keratoprosthesis on patients is nothing less than extraordinary. Individuals who once faced the chances of permanent blindness can now enjoy improved vision and enjoy life without depending on anyone. Daily tasks that were once daunting for them becomes manageable, from reading to recognising faces and navigating the surrounding with confidence.

Unlike corneal transplants, which replace the entire cornea and which also has chances of failures due to many reasons, including rejection as non-self, keratoprosthesis involves implanting a small, biocompatible implant that acts as an artificial cornea. This device provides a clear pathway for light to enter the eye, essentially bypassing the damaged cornea.

One of the most remarkable aspects of keratoprosthesis is its versatility. There are different types of keratoprosthesis depending on the patients eye condition of whether dry surface or wet, we can choose different variants of keratoprosthesis. This customisation ensures that individuals with complex eye condition who are not responding to the traditional treatments can regain functional vision and improve their quality of life.

The field of keratoprosthesis is continually evolving. Researchers are exploring ways to enhance the durability and safety of these devices, that aims to make the procedure even more accessible and effective. With ongoing developments, we can anticipate even better outcomes for patients in the future.

While keratoprosthesis offers immense promise, it is not without its challenges. Patients require lifelong follow-up care to monitor for potential complications, such as infection or device dislocation. Since these have challenges like limited visual fields and altered cosmetic appearance it needs careful counselling of patients and family members in great detail. Additionally, not all individuals are suitable candidates for this procedure, making careful patient selection very crucial. These procedures are reserved only as last resort and only in bilateral corneal diseases with procedure always done only to one eye.

Keratoprosthesis is a ray of hope for those battling bilateral corneal blindness not suitable for conventional transplants. It has helped to transform lives, restoring vision and opening up new opportunities for individuals who once faced a world of darkness. As research and technology continue to advance, the future holds even more promise for those seeking to regain their sight through this remarkable procedure. Keratoprosthesis serves as a testament to human ingenuity and our unwavering commitment to improving the lives of those in need.

Non-profit health platforms announce plan to support India's public healthcare system

ACT, a non-profit venture philanthropy platform and Global Health Labs Inc (GHL), an international nonprofit, announced their collaboration on identifying Indian digital and medical technology innovators and supporting the development and scale of their digital health and medical technology innovations within India's public healthcare system. This is taken up to positively impact the access to quality and affordable healthcare for underserved populations. The aim of this collaboration is to enable cutting-edge healthcare technology to overcome the divide and improve the quality of care across primary healthcare settings.

Manipal Hospital hosts second edition of well-being event for senior citizens

Manipal Hospital hosted its second edition of Grown-up Children's Day on November 18, after the success of its first edition. Around 300 senior citizens from the neighbourhood were invited for the event. It was organised with the aim of creating a platform to showcase the skill set of the seniors who wish to support the day-to-day activities of the doctors and patients. Senior citizens shared two-minute videos showcasing their skills such as singing, poetry, recitation, dancing, acting, and painting. The event featured a variety of activities, including painting, poetry, illustrations, storytelling, and quizzes. Also, these senior citizens consistently share their experiences and thoughts on the platform 'Community Connect Portal', by sharing blogs, forums, videos, audio, and medical tales, providing a feeling of community and well-being.

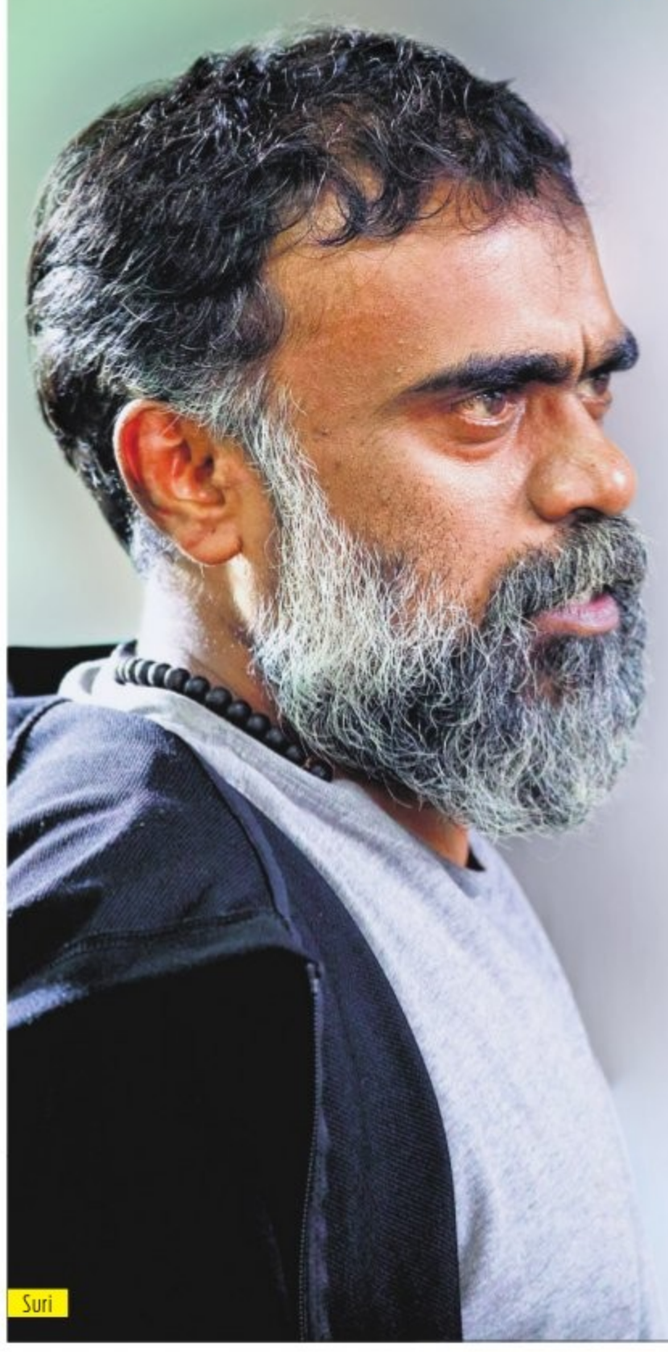
BAD MANNERS

DELVES INTO THE INTRICATE FACETS OF RUDRA

says director Suri as he sheds light on his upcoming project



Suri

A still from the film

A SHARADHAA

DIRECTOR Suri is someone who strongly believes in deliberate pacing rather than haste. He emphasises the importance of delivering products that resonate with the audiences. He carefully spaces out his film releases to consistently provide audiences with the anticipated entertainment, and he is gearing up for the release of Bad Manners this week. Renowned for delving into authentic narratives from the urban underbelly, director Suri ventures into the realm of guns, in his upcoming film, Bad Manners, featuring Abhishek Ambareesh, Rachita Ram and Priyanka Kumar as the principal cast.

While Suri relishes action dramas and thrillers, he invests in comprehensive studies within his chosen subjects. For Bad Manners, focusing on the theme of guns, Suri sought input from former IPS officer Umesh to accurately portray the societal systems surrounding firearm procurement and distribution. However, he clarifies, "This film is not merely a documentary on gun manufacturing but a portrayal of Rudra's journey, exploring both his virtuous and flawed attributes in Bad Manners."

Suri's films are lauded for their trademark reverse screenplay. He's embraced a fresh approach in narrating the tale of Bad Manners. "From Duniya till today, none of my films have been created without collaborative effort," Suri asserts.

"This time, I've gone with the creative process along with a younger cadre of technicians. Amri and Surendranath co-authored the story and screenplay with me, and Masti has handled the dialogues. While Charan Raj composed the music, Shekar has managed the cinematography. Together, we've assembled a compelling final product," he states.

Krishna

'I COULDN'T RELATE TO THE ROLE I PLAY IN SUGAR FACTORY'

CE FEATURES

SUGAR Factory marks Krishna's fourth release this year. The film, which is set against the pub culture, is his first collaboration with director Deepak Aras. "Sugar Factory came to me after Love Mocktail during the pandemic. It's a character that contrasts with my previous roles. While Adi in Love Mocktail believed in love and marriage, Arya in Sugar Factory is a free spirit who enjoys life to the fullest," reveals Krishna ahead of the film's release this week.

The actor believes Sugar Factory's story will resonate with today's generation. However, he struggled to connect with his character in Sugar Factory. "I'm someone who enjoys the 90s era and writes stories from that atmosphere. Somehow, I can't connect with today's generation, and that is one of the reasons I felt weird portraying the role in Sugar Factory. However, it's always challenging to play someone you're not, and be in a role, that you can't relate to," he admits.

Interestingly, starring in such contrasting films isn't concerning for Krishna. "I see it as pure entertainment. As a director too, I can't always impose my thoughts on the audience. Some directors envision me differently, and it's good to face the camera from their perspective too." Krishna explains.

Being the face of the film, there are bound to be expectations, even though the film has another director at the helm. "Both the actor and director need to stand out in their ways. A good film can succeed despite a bad actor, but a film might falter due to a bad director," he says.

While acting alone doesn't pressure him, Krishna answers if he's judgmental or tends to assert authority on other sets. "I don't like interference nor interfering. If something's wrong, I might suggest, but it's up to them to consider it. I believe filmmaking is teamwork. We generally discuss, and if they are sensible, they consider it, " he says.

'My storytelling often stems from a female perspective'

Raj B Shetty discusses his upcoming directorial venture, Swathi Mutthina Male Haniye, produced by actor Ramya. Together with Siri Ravikumar, they delve into a detailed conversation about the film

CE FEATURES

ACTOR-filmmaker Raj B Shetty has showcased his versatility in acting, writing, directing, and storytelling, reflecting his unwavering passion for cinema. Starting with his directorial debut Ondu Motteya Kathe, a satire-comedy-drama, followed by Garuda Gamana Vrishaba Vahana and his involvement in Toby, Raj now delves into the profound realm of romance with his latest venture, Swati Muthina Male Haniye (SMMH), which will be the first production venture by Ramya, under Apple Box Studios. We caught up with director Raj B Shetty and the female lead Siri Ravi Kumar.

For Raj, SMMH began with a phone call from a woman he met at a gathering. "She has been married for years but felt incredibly lonely, unable to share her feelings with her family or children. She confided in me, a stranger, and that situation lingered in my head, eventually becoming a project," shares Raj, who also elaborates on the title's significance. According to him, the rain during Swati Nakshatra holds purity and is used in Ayurvedic practices for its healing nature. The belief that a raindrop falling into a shell can transform into a pearl reflects the essence of the title and the film.

Briefly discussing the film's story and its underlying theme, Raj mentions, "Prerana, a counselor in a hospice setting, forms an unexpected bond with Aniketh. Their connection forms the crux of the story, exploring the essence of love, life, and human bonds."

Siri reflects on her initial thoughts and emotions about working for the first time in a Raj B Shetty film. "I was overjoyed and pinched myself several times upon receiving Raj B Shetty's call. It took a while to sink in. I didn't have his number, and during a time of uncertainty, he straightforwardly introduced himself and offered me a role in SMMH. He mentioned that there were some last-minute changes, and expressed his interest in having me on board. It's a day I'll never forget, and now, a year later, the film is releasing. It's the best feeling ever."

Elaborating on the research process involved in developing the narrative, Raj says, "As a Bachelor of Social Work graduate, I visited several institutions dealing with critical cases, and meeting individuals in their final moments. This experience shaped the story. Visiting Karunashraya with producer Ramya, DOP, and editor, Praveen Shriyan, meeting counselors, and brainstorming on elements helped justify the film."

Shooting the film in just 18 days was a rare feat for the filmmaker. "This cinema isn't for all audiences, and I was clear about our target audience. Storytelling plays a crucial role in reaching the right viewers. We carefully managed the budget. Additionally, my long-time technicians, who have been with me for almost 12 years, understood my vision and supported me. Filming entirely in Ooty complemented the story's backdrop."

Raj emphasises that SMMH portrays love from a unique perspective. "Love isn't confined to norms like genders or ages. For me, it's about companionship or friendship, devoid of any physical angle. Similar to my previous films, love isn't depicted through societal standards. Being there for someone, just to listen, defines love, and it is the essence of SMMH." says Raj, who is appreciative of music director Midhu Mukundan's compositions.

Preparing for SMMH, Raj drew inspiration from Kuvempu's lines, Oh Nanna Chetana, to better understand the character. "I had to lose weight and go without food for 15 days, aiming for those dark circles and other changes to fit the role," he shares.

Reflecting on her experience, Siri admits she had tears in her eyes upon receiving the narration from Raj. "As a psychology student, understanding the role's sensitivity was challenging. Visiting Karunashraya, consulting counsellors, and conducting personal research were pivotal. Capturing the right emotions was essential, and with Raj's help, I know I will take a piece of Prerna with me long after SMMH."

Regarding writing such a strong character in SMMH, Raj shares, "It was easy for me as I've always been closely connected to the women in my life. My storytelling often stems from a female perspective, starting with my grandmother. My mother has been a significant influence. I've witnessed their patience and sacrifices, yet often taken them for granted. This realisation has been with me since childhood."

Is Raj's inclination towards different genres, a conscious choice or driven by storytelling inspiration? "Coming from a middle-class family, I feel fortunate to be a filmmaker, supported by audiences paying to watch my films since 2017. My duty is to connect with audiences, bringing fresh thoughts in each film, and avoiding monotony in genres."

Raj concludes by sharing his vision as a filmmaker. "I've reverted to a student mindset, eager to explore and learn cinema and its stories. I aim to create something new, a space I haven't explored before."

SUN, SAND AND CINEMA

In this column, the writer reflects on the experiences of each day at the 54th International Film Festival of India, Goa

SUDHIR SRINIVASAN

AT the premiere of the silent film, Gandhi Talks, a viewer unfamiliar with Tamil cinema turned to me when the cast of the film walked in to be felicitated before the screening. The stars present included Vijay Sethupathi, Aditi Rao Hydari, and AR Rahman himself. But the viewer next to me had eyes only for Vijay Sethupathi. "That's him, isn't it? Saythupathee," he said, eyes full of admiration. It was clear then if it wasn't earlier that the actor has, despite issues with English and Hindi, managed to capture the imagination of regions hardly exposed to Tamil cinema. AR Rahman was a big attraction, yes, but so was Vijay Sethupathi, out there in flesh and skin, promoting this experimental film that catered to audiences across languages, much like the actor himself. Soon, the stage was set for the first-ever silent film, Gandhi Talks, to be played at IFFI 23.

First things first. Gandhi Talks is not quite a silent film with Rahman's score guiding us through the events of the film, much like organs and flutes and pianos once accompanied silent films. The film itself can be acknowledged and experienced for being an experiment. It's a film without a single dialogue, and the only human voices we hear come in a song or two from AR Rahman—and frankly, it felt rather good to hear them. Rahman's score is relentless, and it feels like he's approached the project to express himself in all the ways he can. Jazz, operatic influences, orchestral grandness... and rather interestingly for a silent film, even human voices get used as an instrument. It's all rather indulgent (even with Vijay Sethupathi's gift of charisma), and at much more than two hours, this dark comedy—this interplay between a thief, a prospective thief, and one falsely accused of theft—gets rather testing.

More charisma from Vijay Sethupathi was on display on Day 3 of IFFI, Goa, as he brought his conversational A-game to the packed Kala Academy auditorium. The interviewer, actor-politician Khushboo, offered him topics rather than pointed questions, and Vijay Sethupathi took off to bring insights laced with metaphors and wisdom. "I try to understand the essence of the filmmaker. More than the what of the narration, it's the why I try to understand," he said. When asked about his performances, he got the crowd laughing by dryly saying, "I have no idea what method acting is." He went on, "It's a flow... Ram (96) just happened. He's a beautiful man and I tried to let him flow through me."

While his fans shared their love for his villain characters in films like Master and Jawan, he shocked some by stating that he wouldn't want to play the villain for a few years at least. "There are many pressures and restrictions. They try to stop the character from dominating the hero; some of the essence gets lost in editing as well. I also get stars calling me and asking me to play the villain. I think I will take a break and instead focus on playing the protagonist and character roles."

Vijay Sethupathi, dressed to prioritise comfort over high fashion ("My clothes are quite expensive, by the way"), was a real presence, as always. No airs, no implied superiority, and most importantly, no false modesty either. "I don't want you to think I'm being humble. It's not true. I'm just trying to be real to myself." And that's why when a fan shared that he had come all the way from Kerala on behalf of his eight-year-old daughter to meet him, Vijay Sethupathi ended the session by offering to talk to her in a video call. He came through yet again not so much as an actor, but more as an individual in search of real feelings and real emotions.
